THE NATION

In another special message to Congress entitled "Crime in America," President Johnson proclaimed public order to be "the first business of government" and asked for the authorization of an extensive and expensive program of federal assistance to stimulate state and local crime control efforts. The message contained a renewed request for a stiff fire-arms control law and the outline of a law whereby most public and private wiretapping and electronic eavesdropping would be banned. Page One.

During testimony before a congressional joint economic committee, Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler said that he thinks a tax increase will be necessary this year because he doesn't have any confidence that Congress can or will be able to cut $4 to $6 billion from the administration's budget.

After a brief statement at the airport, Kosygin met with Prime Minister Wilson for discussions on "several topical international issues," according to an official statement. Page A12.

Diplomatic relations between the Soviet Union and Communist China continued to deteriorate at a fast clip. Viet Cong Releases Reporter

EDITOR'S NOTE—The writer of this dispatch is a French-speaking Associated Press photographer who interviewed French newswoman Michele Ray at An Khe after her release from Viet Cong captivity, then flew with her to Saigon.

By HENRI HUET
SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) —South Vietnamese artillery shells crashed in overhead and French newswoman Michele Ray was crammed in a six-foot cave with eight of her Viet Cong captors. She felt she would suffocate if she stayed and be killed by a shell if she left.

"It was so stifling hot in there and the air was so bad that I wanted to climb outside," she said yesterday after her release. "I would rather die in an open field by bullets than expire in a horrid hole for the lack of air."

It was one of two times Miss Ray, an attractive 28-year-old former Paris model and cover girl, thought she might die during her 21 days as prisoner of the Viet Cong in South Vietnam's central highlands.

Recounting it all at headquarters of the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airborne, Division in An Khe and later on a plane flight to Saigon, Miss Ray said the Viet Cong ordered her into the cave the day after she was seized Jan. 21.

Southern Rights Battle Appears Near Collapse

By GENE ROBERTS
(C) N.Y. Times News Service
JACKSON, Miss. — The civil rights movement has collapsed in broad areas of the South, and is fighting what seems to be a last-ditch battle for survival in its few remaining spheres of influence.

This is the unmistakable picture in the region now as one tour of such southern states as Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia states that as recently as six months ago were focal points of civil rights activity.

The collapse results mainly from a sharp decline in contributions to civil rights groups, a shift of volunteers in the movement to the anti-poverty campaign and protests against the war in Vietnam, and from a decision of the organizations to use some of their limited resources in the North.

Civil rights headquarters have been abandoned in many communities, and street demonstrations are now only a memory in all except a handful of Southern counties.

The civil rights organizations themselves report a total of only about 65 organizers actively working in the region (compared to about 300 a year ago), and most of these cannot afford a permanent office or telephone.

However, in the South's large cities and in some of the rural counties, Negroes are carrying on for themselves — carrying out their own voter registration drives, appearing before local governing boards to ask for street and school improvements, and occasionally organizing cooperatives to improve their economic condition.

State Constitutional Revision Hits Snag In Republican Caucus

By PAUL ZDINAK
HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Shafer's bill aimed at setting up a limited constitutional convention hit another snag in the Senate Republican caucus yesterday.

The Republicans, who rule that chamber 27-22, met privately for nearly three hours with no apparent success. Seven GOP senators voted against the measure in its present form, while 18 supported it. Two were absent.

This means the Republican Shafer Administration is still short of the required 26 votes to pass the measure, Senate Bill No. 1.

The minority Senate Democrats are solidly opposed to the bill as it now reads.

Senate Republicans will caucus again Tuesday morning in another attempt to quell the internal difference and get the bill out of committee, where it has been languishing since the first of the year.

The House also met yesterday but did not conduct any major business. It adjourned until next Monday. The Senate returns at 1:30 p.m. today.

The House Rules Committee released to the floor three resolutions, one of which calls for the appointment of a joint committee to investigate the need for a legislative code of ethics. This would have to be approved in the Senate also.

A proposed constitutional amendment that the state borrow $50 million to compensate

Pennsylvania veterans of the Viet Nam War was introduced in the House with bipartisan sponsorship.

SEEKS $50 MILLION

LBJ to Launch War on Crime

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson asked Congress yesterday to declare legislative war on crime and to pump $ 50 million into the fight in the next two fiscal years.

"We can control crime if we will," Johnson said in a special message to Congress. "We must act boldly, now, to treat ancient evils and to insure the public safety."

Crime and the fear of crime have become a public malady, the President said, so it is "our duty to seek its cure with every means at our command."

As a starter, he asked for $50 million to finance a Safe Streets and Crime Control Act in the 1968 fiscal year which starts this July 1. In the following year, he estimated an additional $300 million would be needed.

But there would be heavy emphasis on getting state and local governments to swing their own efforts and funds into the anti-crime campaign. Over the two years, they would be expected to put up about $283 million.

The $633-million total for two years would go into planning the battle against crime and in to research and pilot projects.

Nicholas Katzenbach, the former attorney general who now is undersecretary of state, said what is in the making is "the most comprehensive, realistic, hard-headed approach to crime ever undertaken in this country."

Katzenbach headed a commission Johnson named more than a year and a half ago to investigate the crime problem and come up with a report. This report reached Johnson's desk two weeks ago and will be made public shortly, the President said.

Officials said the program Johnson laid before Congress is consistent with the commission's findings and recommendations.

Some Republican leaders found fault with the President's proposals. House GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan said Johnson's message "focuses on a number of important problem areas but neglects some key points."

Noting that money and desire are the main ingredients needed for a nationwide attack on crime, Ford said in a statement that, "The best way to provide funds for that attack would be through federal tax-sharing."

The GOP leader questioned Johnson's call for a ban on all wiretapping except in national security cases. Ford said electronic listening devices are "an essential tool in law enforcement" and while the privacy of citizens must be protected "we must not throw out the baby with the bath water."

Flames Level Garage

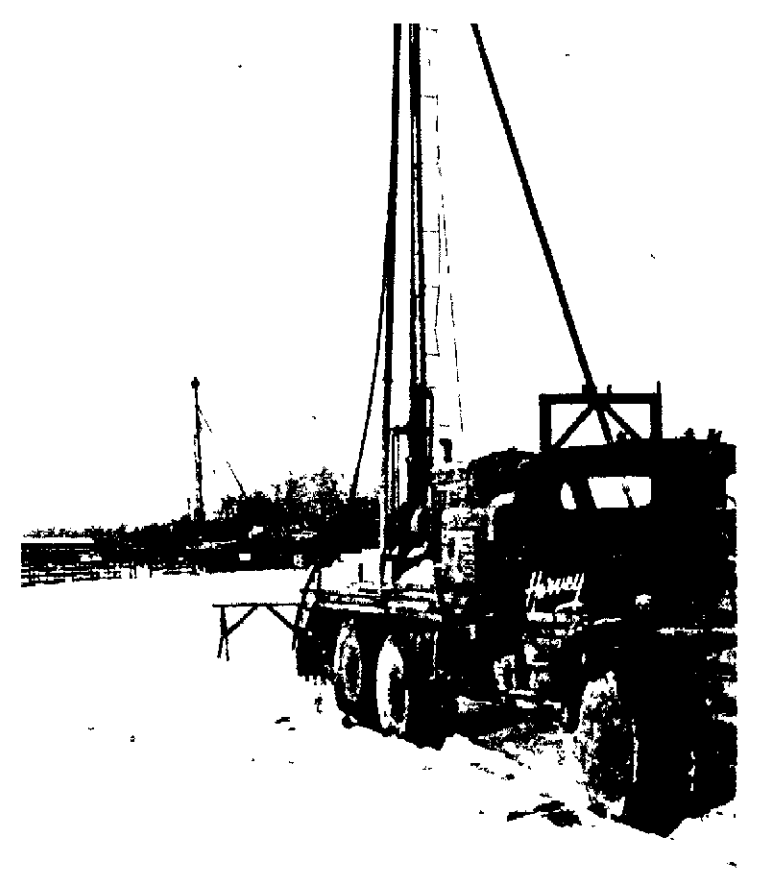

Fire leveled a 1½-story garage at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lauffenburger Jr., 796 Cobham Park rd., yesterday afternoon.

No injuries were reported. Chief Darwin Stenstrom of Glade Twp. Volunteer Fire Dept. said the loss included a freezer full of food, a clothes dryer, a motorcycle, a closet full of clothing, a range, garden tools and some furniture. There was no dollar estimate of damage to the structure, which was partially insured.

Twelve firemen from the Glade department responded to a call at 11:45 a.m. and were joined by about 10 men from North Warren and Pleasant Township departments on a mutual aid call. Four trucks were used.

Firemen fought the blaze two hours in temperatures so cold that the valves on a heated pump froze, said Chief Stenstrom. He said the firemen directed most of their efforts at saving the Lauffenburgers' mobile home, which was some 20 feet from the blazing garage. The home was not damaged.

Stenstrom said the fire evidently started in a laundry room inside the garage.

Third Year Begins

Bombing in Vietnam Costly During First Two Years

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — The United States begins its third year of bombing against North Vietnam today with no end in sight.

The first two years of the offensive have cost the Americans, by Pentagon reckoning, more than 400 pilots dead, captured or missing, and 471 fixed wing aircraft worth roughly a billion dollars. North Vietnamese claims that they have shot down 1,674 U.S. planes are disputed here.

The offensive roared on right up to the close of the second year, and military sources said the third year begins with a full slate of strikes scheduled.

Publicity and protests about the bombing and repeated reports of "peace feelers" from North Vietnam keyed to a demand for an unconditional end to the offensive had intensified a great debate in the United States.

Amid much confusion and apparent contradiction in official statements on the effectiveness of the offensive, some are asking whether the bombing of North Vietnam was worth the cost and effort in the first place. Some claim it has largely failed in achieving U.S. objectives. U.S. pilots claim that at present the restrictions on their bombing runs are so great that it makes their efforts to impede infiltration of troops and supplies from North Vietnam to the Viet Cong in South Vietnam largely ineffective.

The offensive has been described by President Johnson as the "most careful and self-limited air war in history."

Its announced aim when it began Feb. 7, 1965, was to raise the cost of the war for North Vietnam and to interdict troops and supplies pouring south to the Viet Cong. But it has had limited effect in stopping Hanoi's aid to the Viet Cong.

Last month, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said there had been no reduction below anticipated levels in infiltration of North Vietnamese forces. The latest reports then had been 5,200 to 5,300 monthly, which he said had been anticipated.

But Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, said some reports placed See BOMBING Page A2

Win or Lose

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States stands to gain very little from the present turmoil in China in the short range. Whether it gains or loses over the long haul depends largely on who wins in Peking.

The odds, as judged by U.S. government experts on China, now favor Communist party boss Mao Tse-tung to come out on top. If he does not, the experts are not sure who will. The personalities of the successors would be decisive in future U.S.-Chinese relations.

The question "what will happen to the United States and Communist China if Mao loses out" is beginning to be asked seriously by China watchers here and in Hong Kong and Tokyo, even as they discount the possibility that Mao will lose. They think he has greater command of popular political power than any other possible leader and that he also has the necessary strength in the army.

Yet so much of any judgment about China is based on ignorance, and possibly obsolete history, that the experts concede the unexpected may happen and an anti-Maoist leadership come to power.

In such a case, the experts speculate the trend of relations between Red China and the Soviet Union, now on the verge of a diplomatic break, likely would be reversed.

The experts reason that even though the Soviets have not been very openhanded about aid, charging substantially for their help, they still can be of great economic and military assistance to the Chinese. Indeed many U.S. experts on China believe that Mao's break with Russia over Communist party doctrine has been a cause of the opposition to him inside China.

Another possible consequence of Mao's replacement could be that China would become much more efficient in developing its resources and military power potential. This might make mainland China more dangerous to U.S. interests in Asia and elsewhere.

A third possibility is that a post-Mao leadership in China probably would be interested in stimulating trade with the major industrial nations of Europe and with Japan to help build a modern industry. This could mean increased trade with many other nations but not necessarily with the United States, even though Washington might seek adjustments to encourage trade.

U.S. government experts on the Chinese Communists believe the struggle between Mao and his opponents is really a fight between his doctrine of permanent revolution and the opponents' belief in pragmatic solutions to China's problems.

Experts here view both groups of Chinese leaders as committed to communism as a way of life and a political movement, but regard the anti-Mao faction as less fanatical and more realistic.

Such an analysis, U.S. officials say, does not give much basis for hope in any early improvement in U.S.-Chinese relations although a decline in tensions should result if rational men prevail over Maoist zealots.

Manchester Cites Animositities

By RICHARD WITKIN
(c) N.Y. Times News Service
NEW YORK—Aides of President Kennedy made clear their animosity toward President Johnson in incident after incident aboard the plane that returned them to Washington after the assassination in Dallas, according to William Manchester.

In the third installment of "The Death of a President" in Look Magazine, Manchester says that the turnover of power "seemed needlessly cruel" to those close to Kennedy and that it was a mistake to put the Kennedy and Johnson groups aboard the same plane.

"Aspects of Johnson's behaviour in a very understandable state of shock may have proven exacerbating," the author adds, "but the difficulty there was largely one of manners and mannerisms. Johnson was not himself that afternoon — no man was himself then."

The main incidents related to illustrate the resentment reported in the Kennedy entourage are these:

—Except for Mrs. Kennedy, only one minor member of the Kennedy group joined in the knot of people around Johnson for the swearing-in ceremony before take-off. Manchester calls this "an affront to the presidency."

But the author goes on to say that the throwing together of the two groups and their battle over the presidential nomination in 1960 guaranteed the high tension. He said there were no villains on either side.

—Two close Kennedy aides, Kenneth P. O'Donnell and Lawrence F. O'Brien, twice refused requests sent by President Johnson to join him up forward during the flight. They insisted on remaining in the rear corridor with Kennedy's widow near his coffin. (O'Donnell left the administration some months later but O'Brien was named Johnson's postmaster general.)

—A third Kennedy aide, Brig. Gen. Godfrey McHugh, strode forward to make sure the press knew that O'Donnell, O'Brien, McHugh and a fourth aide, David Powers, "spent this flight in the tail compartment with the President — President Kennedy."

During the swearing-in, O'Donnell was "pacing the corridor outside the bedroom (of the plane) like a caged tiger, his hands clapped over his ears as though to block the oath."

His thoughts, according to Manchester, were that Mrs. Kennedy was "being used." He was referring to the fact that she had been persuaded to stand beside Johnson during the

Kennedy Denies Bringing Any Vietnam Peace Hints

By JERRY T. BAULCH
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., after talking with President Johnson, said yesterday he did not bring home any peace feelers from North Vietnam from his recent trip to European capitals.

Kennedy told newsmen: "I never received the impression that I was any recipient of any peace feelers."

Newsweek magazine said Kennedy had received a message from North Vietnam via the French government in Paris last week indicating willingness to negotiate on ending the Vietnam war if the United States would end the bombing of North Vietnam.

Kennedy and Undersecretary of State Nicholas Katzenbach called on Johnson at the White House after Katzenbach had talked for two hours with the senator at his office on Capitol Hill.

Katzenbach said he and Kennedy had gone over various subjects relating to Kennedy's trip and came to the White House to go over the same material with the President.

Kennedy, in an impromptu news conference in the White House West Lobby, said he had filled in Katzenbach and the President on all of his talks with foreign officials in Europe.

Kennedy remarked that Johnson as President had many sources of information and knowledge on the situation in Vietnam. He described the chief executive as making a dedicated and diligent effort to finding a peaceful solution.

As Vietnam discussions here focused on Kennedy, six Democratic senators made floor speeches urging President Johnson to halt the bombing of North Vietnam during the lunar new year which begins Wednesday, and to continue the pause in an effort to spur peace talks.

White House press secretary George Christian said Johnson had asked Katzenbach to confer with the senator.

But in answer to a question, Christian said Kennedy did not represent the President nor the White House in his discussions with various European leaders. Christian added that Kennedy had the cooperation of the State Department in arranging his schedule.

Red Guards Shout Insults At Departing Russians Envoys

TOKYO (AP) — Red China's cultural revolution took a back seat in Peking yesterday while Red Guards and other Chinese poured out their wrath on the Soviet Union and some of its East-bloc allies.

Japanese correspondents reported riotous scenes at the airport, where about 50 wives and children of Soviet Embassy dependents flew home, and around the embassy itself, where demonstrations were in their 11th day.

None of the Soviet dependents was manhandled, apparently, but they had to pass throughs of Red Guards screaming insults and threats, said Japanese correspondents.

Red Guards surrounded the Polish ambassador, Witold Rodzinski, bawling insults at him. The official German news agency ADN said its ambassador, Martin Bierbach, and other East German diplomats were "brazenly sworn at and violently grabbed hold of."

In Warsaw, the Polish government angrily protested the treatment of its ambassador. The Polish news agency PAP said the Chinese ambassador was summoned to the Foreign Ministry and handed a note stressing Poland's "profound indignation."

A group of young Communists defaced an anti-Soviet display case outside the Chinese Embassy.

Other reports said demonstrators gathered in front of the Soviet Embassy and shouted for "the blood of the Soviet people." They smashed at the massive embassy gate and burned effigies of Soviet party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin. They hung coffins on the embassy gate.

The Czechoslovak news agency CTK said a Soviet official had been seized at the airport and was last reported still held. Diplomats from East-bloc nations sought to get him released.

Washington sources have reported the administration in January, following waves of publicity and criticism about the civilian toll in North Vietnam, barred bomber flights from an area 10 miles in diameter over the center of Hanoi.

Raiders over the past weekend hit a target 17 miles north of Hanoi, the closest to the capital in recent weeks.

Military men say they fear that the administration has decided to slow down the air attack over North Vietnam, at least temporarily, because of policy disputes which broke out in late December.

Last year, before it began dispersing its organizing force into New York, Philadelphia and Boston, the student committee had about 100 organizers in the South.

Local Sorority 'Adopts' Girl

The 25 members of Phi Zeta Chi sorority of Warren High School have adopted a 13-year-old girl from India.

She is Lorraine Chea of Calcutta, whose mother died three years ago.

The sorority sisters pay $10 per month to help support the Indian girl. The money is raised through dues.

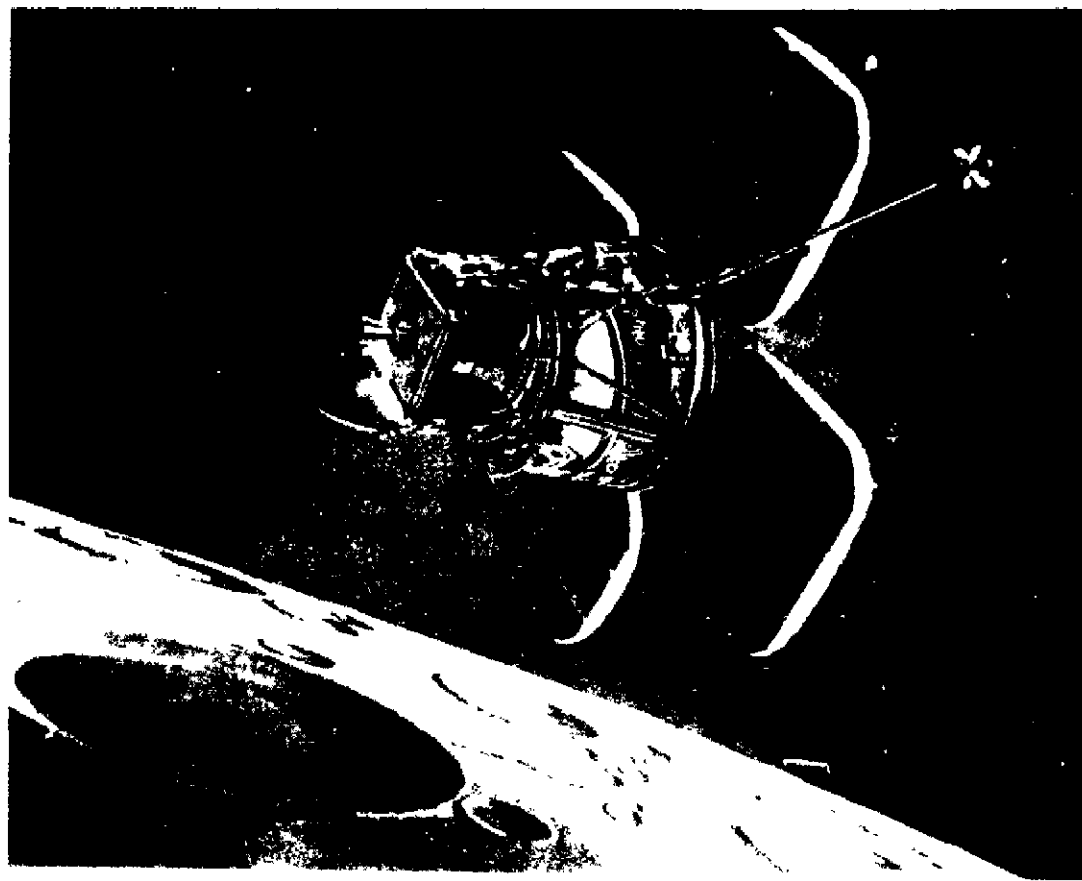

The personal history received by the sorority notes that the girl's background is "one of extreme poverty and privation."

"Her mother died when the child was about 10 years old, leaving the father alone with three children to support and care for," the pamphlet says. "This man realized there was no way he could work and at the same time look after the children, so he remarried."

Her father's income as a bus driver is meager, the agency said, and he has trouble supporting his four children and two step-children.

Lorraine attends Calcutta Assembly of God Day School. She likes geography and enjoys basketball. She is in Primary 5, about the same as the fifth grade in American schools.

Americans Announce New Viet Assault

By BOB GASSAWAY

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP)

The United States disclosed yesterday a massive new assault in an area reported to be the Viet Cong national headquarters in South Vietnam and the U.S. commander said, "I'm looking for a fight."

Over North Vietnam, bad weather closed in on the Red River delta and much of the country to hamper bombing raids.

Spokesmen in Saigon said the United States has started spraying chemicals over the lower half of the demilitarized zone between the two Vietnams to take leaves off trees. Officials said this will expose Communist infiltration routes to allied reconnaissance and will reveal Communist facilities constructed in the theoretically neutral zone.

The new ground action in South Vietnam is called Operation Gadsden. It was launched Thursday with at least 8,000 American soldiers, but was not announced until yesterday for strategic reasons. It is in War Zone C which allied intelligence indicates harbors the Viet Cong "central office, South Vietnam."

U.S. troops battered the Communists in War Zone C last November in Operation Attleboro. After sharp fighting at the outset then, the Viet Cong faded into the jungles and the American forces pulled out.

Brig. Gen. Richard Knowles, commander of the 196th Light Infantry Brigade, said at the outset of the new operation: "I am looking for a fight and I'm after the 271st Regiment of the North Vietnamese 9th Division." Units of the U.S. 25th and 4th infantry divisions also are engaged in the operation which so far has been supported with seven raids by B-52 bombers flying from a base on Guam.

In ground fighting elsewhere U.S. briefing officers said, allied troops killed more than 100 Communists, but most of the action was limited to small unit engagements in widely scattered areas.

The South Vietnamese government informed the International Control Commission for Vietnam of the decision to defoliate demilitarized zone areas. The commission, made up of Canada, India and Poland, was formed in 1954 to supervise the accords which brought an end to the French-Indochinese war.

The Saigon government said defoliation was decided upon because there was evidence of new Communist infiltration.

Last summer, U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese turned back a North Vietnamese attempt to seize South Vietnam's uppermost provinces. The Communists streamed into South Vietnam through the demilitarized zone.

U.S. Air Force C-123 transport planes started the defoliation Sunday. The U.S. Embassy said: "The United States fully supports the position of the Vietnam government in this matter."

An embassy spokesman described the operation as a "defensive measure" which does not violate the zone's official neutrality.

An informant said the planes are spraying "standard commercial herbicides" which are harmless to humans and animals. It begins to take effect in a week and is fully effective in four to six weeks, he said. It permits regrowth some time after that.

The southern half of the demilitarized zone is about three

Adult Education Enrollment At Warren High Sets Record

Enrollment in Warren Area High School adult education courses is greater than ever.

Principal Joseph V. Passaro said yesterday that more than 200 people are taking evening courses in such subjects as drafting, quality control, typing, shorthand, art, welding and petroleum technology.

Passaro said the variety of courses offered is greater this year than it has been in any of the more than ten previous years of the adult education program. Instructors from both the school system and industry teach the courses. The fee for 48 hours of instruction during the 16-week semester varies in the neighborhood of $20 to $25.

Industry has helped the night school program out this year, Passaro said, by telling employees about the instruction available. Several plants are paying part or all of the costs of courses for their employees.

Night school is divided into two semesters, winter and spring. Passaro said that both basic and advanced courses will be offered during each semester so that anyone who misses the beginning of a course in September can start the course during the spring semester and continue on a more advanced level the next fall.

Passaro said that if enough people enroll and an instructor can be found, a course on any subject will be offered—even, he said, on Swahili.

"We've learned a lot this year," said the principal, "and we're ready to come out with a bigger and better program next year."

20 Schools to Participate In County Spelling Bee

Richard L. Hiles, principal Sugar Grove Elementary School and chairman of Warren County School District first annual participation in the Nation Spelling Bee, announced 20 elementary schools in the county will participate. Schools will be matched in 10 spelling contests the week of February 20 through 24.

The Warren County Spelling Bee is under auspices of Spelling Bee Director Lee Warthman, Erie Times and News, Warren Times-Mirror and Observer and Sheffield Observer.

Schools are matched as follows: Lincoln at Sheffield, Lander at Sugar Grove, North Warren at Russell, Plank Road at Tidouste, Home Street at Jefferson, South st. at Lacy, Youngsville at Starbrick, Irvine at Pittsfield, Irvinedale at Scandia and McClintock at Pleasant Township.

The 10 winners of the matches will then go to Erie to compete in the television competition. These winners on each team receive a special spelling bee pin, and inscribed pen.

All members of the 20 teams will be awarded a certificate of merit. A Webster's Student Dictionary will be given to the elementary school winner of the Warren group at Erie. A Webster's Collegiate Dictionary will also be given by Warthman to some teacher, as a token of appreciation, for special interest.

At Erie, the winner in each Warren County group, elementary, junior high, and parochial schools, will receive an inscribed pen and pencil set, plus a $25 savings bond, and a trip to Pittsburgh with a chance to compete in the state and national spelling bee competitions.

Other awards will be given at the Erie matches. Hiles reminded there will be a spelling bee on television on Friday of this week at 1:30 on WSEE-TV, conducted by Lee Warthman.

Dates for elementary school spelling bee contests in Warren County will be announced in a few days.

President Awards National Medal of Science to 11

WASHINGTON (AP)—Eleven top researchers received the National Medal of Science from President Johnson yesterday in White House ceremonies where Johnson declared the government "must guard freedom of inquiry—and extend it."

The winners of the medals, highest tribute of the government for distinguished scientific and engineering achievement, were announced last December. But the President, with Mrs. Johnson among those in the audience, personally made the awards and congratulated the men of science.

In a brief speech, Johnson said America, besides being "a lighthouse of democratic government in the world," has also set an example of how the power of science and technology can transform man's life and that "America stands for the unified pursuit of knowledge."

The Medal of Science was established by Congress in 1959 to serve as a symbol of the nation's desire to recognize outstanding achievements in the physical, biological, mathematical and engineering sciences and to set an example for youth.

The 1966 winners were: Edward Knipling, director of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's entomology research division; Fritz Lipmann, professor of biochemistry at Rockefeller University; William Rose, professor of chemistry emeritus at the University of Illinois; Sewall Wright, professor genetics emeritus of the University of Wisconsin; Claude Shannon, Donner professor of science at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

And, Vladimir Zworykin, honorary vice president of Radio Corp. of America; John Milnor, professor of mathematics at Princeton University; Jacob Bjerknes, professor meteorology at the University of California in Los Angeles; Subrahmanyan Chandrasekhar, professor of theoretical astrophysics at the University of Chicago; Henry Eyring, dean of the graduate school at the University of Utah; and John V. Vleck, Hollis professor of mathematics and natural philosophy at Harvard University.

PROFESSOR ASSERTS

High School Students' Workload Too Heavy

By MORRIS KAPLAN

(C) N.Y. Times News Service

NEW YORK — A Northwestern University chemistry professor asserted yesterday that thousands of good high school students were being driven to their "academic deaths" because of excessive workloads.

Dr. L. Carroll King attacked the science teaching system in secondary schools as imposing too heavy a burden on youngsters who become so tyrannized by the curriculum that they quit and become casualties in college.

"I charge that in the past 15 years we have committed a crime against a generation," Dr. King declared at a symposium on chemical education of the Middle Atlantic region of the American Chemical Society at the New York Hilton Hotel.

"It is time we faced up to the fact that the human organism cannot work at a maximum rate day after day and year after year. There must be a time for rest. There must be provision for education at a more reasonable rate."

He pictured a day in the life of a good student as beginning at 7 a.m. with a hurried breakfast, with classes from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., homework at 7 p.m. and bed at 11 p.m., or midnight. After four years of this 17-hours-a-day schedule, the youngster "is no longer a good student, he is a tired old man."

"I charge that by the time Mr. Good Student completes secondary school, we have asked him to do too much, too fast, too soon and we have asked him to keep at it too long," King said. "I charge that he has been robbed of several years when he should have had time for free play."

"Mr. Good Student has had his heavy load too much, too soon, too long and it has finally broken his back. He may go to college, but he cannot continue."

"At the college or university he comes to the realization that he is faced with four more years of 17-hour days. It's too much; he just quits. The tired, beaten, defeated, Mr. Good Student asks for academic death."

King suggested that teachers know the problem, but were "trapped" by parents' demands, by demands of colleges "and their ever increasing standards for admission" and by a national college board examination system.

"The teacher is forced into the role of the overseer driving with a whip," he said.

He called for educational reforms that would provide students with individual attention and consideration and the right to proceed at their own rate. He suggested an easing of rigid curricula, standardized tests, college entrance requirements and homework demands.

King, who received his Ph.D. in chemistry at Michigan State College in 1942, has been a teacher at Northwestern since then. He has been identified with research into the structures of steroids and the mechanism of organic reactions.

Airplane Losses Near 1800 in Southeast Asia

By BOB HORTON

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon yesterday upped its publicly released total of airplane losses in Southeast Asia from 622 to 1,172. At the same time officials prepared to hike helicopter losses from 255 to over 600.

The result was a new official tabulation of both combat and noncombat aircraft losses expected to approach 1,800 — twice the 877 currently posted for public distribution.

The added losses represent aircraft destroyed or damaged irreparably due to operational causes — accidents and normal wearing out — but also planes downed outside Vietnam, for example, in Laos or Thailand and aircraft destroyed in attacks on air bases.

A Defense Department statement said the Pentagon previously had announced cumulative totals only on attack planes and armed helicopters knocked down by Communist anti-air.

Warren County Humane Society reports people are abandoning very young puppies. This is not only against the law, and carries heavy penalties, but is unnecessary. If they will contact the Humane Society, they will always try to work out caring for the animals until a home is found.

During the past year they have been fortunate in finding homes for every animal placed in their care. It has not been necessary to destroy a single dog, up to this time.

At the moment there is a light brown and white dog, cocker spaniel and collie. This female is very gentle, and will make an excellent pet.

Also there is another very beautiful dog, honey-colored, part cocker spaniel. This little female needs a loving home. Anyone interested may telephone 723-7509 after 5 p.m.

craft or missiles because "inquiries from newsmen have focused" on these losses.

Nevertheless, yesterday's numbers change appeared likely to raise questions of why the complete picture of aircraft losses had not been given more fully.

Pentagon spokesmen had two replies to this:

1. Military intelligence has steadfastly opposed revealing aircraft losses of any type, not only to avoid giving Hanoi some amount of comfort but also to keep the Soviet Union and Communist China from knowing how much the U.S. aircraft inventory is being drawn down by the Vietnam war.

2. Most of the losses released in cumulative form yesterday have been dribbled out in military communications from Saigon as they occurred although never cranked into running totals of air-war losses supplied to the press. A spokesman estimated, however, that perhaps a fourth of these losses never had been announced at any time.

Burglars Take $4,000 in Cash At Jamestown

JAMESTOWN — Weekend burglars made off with a box containing $4,000 in $50 and $100 bills after breaking into the home of John Swanson at 246 Willard st.

Jamestown detectives investigating the theft said that the thieves forced open a front door and removed a box from a cedar chest in the bedroom. The box reportedly contained the money.

Another burglary which netted thieves nearly $100 is also being investigated. The burglars entered the home of Jacob Weinstein at 125 Ellis ave., by crawling through a milk chute after passing through an unlocked garage.

Also reported to police yesterday was a break-in at a used car lot on Washington st. where thieves made off with change from a vending machine. A used car was also reported missing from the used car lot.

Urban Renewal Takes Action

It is time we start taking a harder look at urban renewal and realize that we cannot wait for political dreams to come true. If we do it may be too late.

There are proposals to spend billions to revitalize cities and improve the social structure of communities, but the program will not become "gigantic" soon. There is a lot of urban renewal going on now, including a downtown parking area in Warren borough. But even this simple downtown project is being bogged down by Warren Borough Council's lack of swift action in adopting adequate building, plumbing, electrical and housing codes; updating of the fire code; and appointment of an adequate and qualified staff for code administration.

It all goes to point out that plans must jell if urban renewal is going to come soon. The red tape in Washington is bad enough without the lack of local cooperation—both governmental and "privately." No matter what steps are taken, or how rapidly they are taken by the Warren County Redevelopment Authority, complete cooperation must be expedited through all necessary phases.

Once the early stages of operation are complete we should strive to develop new techniques for rehabilitation, rebuilding, pulling together the talents of builders, lenders and private investors.

Joint efforts now—with some practical and realizable thinking—and we may start expecting some returns in dollars and cents after the turn of the decade.

Or is that too soon?

Make It Six

It appears that the number of Republican candidates running for the nomination of county commissioner in the May Primary Election is even too much for us. In this space yesterday we failed to mention Ralph Brasington as one of many from the GOP seeking the nod. He makes six on the Republican slate at this writing.

The others are James Blomquist, incumbent D. H. Lay, Dr. David K. Rice, John Teconchuk, W. Robert Walsh.

MAISON DENISON

Taxes: 'How' and 'How Much'

HARRISBURG — The new Harrisburg Administration hasn't presented its bill yet for the tax bite Pennsylvanians will have to pay during the coming fiscal year — but it shouldn't be too long in coming, perhaps by early or mid-March.

It is becoming fairly evident now that it isn't a question of "whether" taxes will be increased to meet the new Harrisburg Administration projections — but rather "how" and "how much?"

It could round out to an additional $15 per person, on a "per capita" basis alone — and that covers every one of the near 12 million residents of the Keystone State (including the non-tax-paying diaper brigade), if some $200 million in additional expenditures (as most frequently talked about now) becomes a reality.

Interestingly, it's all a bit of a far, far cry from that day exactly one year ago — on February 7, 1966 — when then Governor Scranton presented his (record-breaking of course) near $1.5 billion budgetary essay to the Legislature.

Quoth His Excellency William

Warren Scranton a year ago today in his budget message:

"Expanded and improved services in all areas of state governmental activity are made possible through the budget for the fiscal year 1966-67. No new taxes will be required to pay for the increased services."

At the time it was something of a bell-ringer.

Would Mr. Shafer be able to say the same when he offers his fiscal volume, it too would be a bell-ringer. Mr. Shafer however is not destined to be in any sort of bell-ringing position when he submits his financial treatise.

Aside from any increased costs incurred as a result of what might be termed "new Shafer programs", Pennsylvania's fiscal picture is further darkened by mandated increases — that is, escalations decreed by preceding legislatures which this year could total up to close to $200 million.

These are flat out-and-out built-in cost increases over which a chief executive has no control, as for example spiraling education costs which will up a good chunk out of the mandated uppage. To illustrate the point there is the new school subsidy formula which becomes effective in the new fiscal year estimated to cost around $100 million — additional.

Add to this such items as legislatively mandated expenditures in the welfare field, scholarship funds, etc., and it isn't difficult to see where the mandated increases alone wind up!

This is roughly the picture facing Governor Shafer — and Pennsylvania's chafing-at-the-bit taxpayer brood. Something like a drop of water in the Sahara Desert, but nevertheless a welcome drop, was the announcement the other day that department heads, following stern admonitions by His Excellency, had managed to peel $16.5 million from their earlier budget requests.

Well, in all this there is perhaps a small ray of sunshine over the horizon, or under it. A week ago, Governor Rockefeller up there in New York State turned in his budgetary projection for the coming fiscal year in the Empire State — to the tune of $4.7 billion!

And interestingly too, Mr. Rockefeller's financial document has a bit of an increase over last year (as will Mr. Shafer's) — to the (disconcerting) tune of $644 million.

New York taxpayers are faced with mandated increases too, for example $117 million in a new school subsidy formula, and an additional $104 million in the state's new medical aid program.

Sound familiar? At least Governor Shafer isn't alone!

JOSEPH ALSOP

'General, Meet Sato-San!

WASHINGTON — If the outcome of the Japanese election had been just a bit different — if the ruling Liberal Democrats had lost no more than 10 or 15 seats — we should now be hearing a great outcry in this country.

Premier Eisaku Sato boldly and squarely chose the American alliance as the central issue for the voters to decide on, Arthur Schlesinger Jr. and many others have told us that Vietnam has alienated from the United States every "independent Asian nation." A small setback for Sato would have been on many a front page as final proof of the Schlesinger thesis.

Instead, Premier Sato won a resounding victory, electing no less than 277 members of his party to the lower house. As one great newspaper's correspondent reported — on page six! — this was a "solid gain for the pro-American element."

It is important to note these facts, because it is important to understand the power of the double standard that now prevails in some quarters, making page six the right place for a "solid" U. S. gain and the front page the right place for the most moderate American setback.

But these facts are also important because of the great importance of Japan, whose people have once again shown a strong attachment not only to the American alliance, but also to constitutional and democratic processes.

Sometimes one wonders at the way the vast changes in the shape of the world we live in, such as the forward movement of Japan, go all but unnoticed by wise persons. Thus, we are told we are an Atlantic power and the Vietnamese war is a mistake because our business is in Europe.

As it happens, however, we are just as much a Pacific power as an Atlantic power. East Asia, too, "is where the action is nowadays," as a bankier-friend crisply remarked. And the progress of Japan is the best proof, both that this banker is right and that our role as a Pacific power is something we should not take lightly.

Briefly, as previously reported in this space, Japan has already passed West Germany to become the world's third steel-producing power, next to this country and the U.S.S.R., as well as the world's leading steel-exporter. This has been achieved, mind you, without any appreciable domestic supplies of coal or iron! And this is by no means the end of the story.

According to the economists of the World Bank, Japan is also due to pass all the European nations in general industrial output, becoming the world's third industrial producer within two to three years. And more astonishing still, the same economists predict that it should take only about a decade for the 100 million people of the Japanese islands to attain a per capita income equal to the present per capita income in Britain.

When and if that happens, please note, Japan will possess a potential power and general weight in the world very nearly equal to the weight and potential of ANY TWO of the old Western European nations that were the unique industrial great powers only half a century ago. Indeed, Japan may then be nudging the U.S.S.R. for second place in the industrial-power lineup.

Please note, too, that this Japanese development is only an advanced example of a process now going on in every East Asian society, except for China, whose people will surely take the same road as soon as they can throw off the shackles of paranoia. In the circumstances it seems odd to be overly preoccupied, for instance, with the views and postures of Gen. Charles de Gaulle.

The leader of France is an obviously great man with an unusual knack for throwing his weight about to maximum effect. But his real weight is already a trifle less than Premier Sato's, who does not throw his weight about, in a decade, moreover, the weight of de Gaulle or his successor is due to be hardly more than half the weight of Sato or his successor. One is inclined to say, "While on this subject of grandeur, General, let me introduce Sato-San!"

More seriously, this country has a particularly hard row to hoe, for we must somehow manage to perform adequately both as an Atlantic power and as a Pacific power. The reason for the Vietnamese war is precisely the same as the reason for the Korean war — the need to discharge our responsibilities and to protect our position as a Pacific power.

The Japanese development and the Japanese election both mean, one hopes, that Japan and later other nations will actually shoulder more of the burden, not in Vietnam, but in the Pacific in the future.

President Johnson has the sense and foresight to be inviting Japan to do precisely that in a quiet way and at the present moment.

Now Who's Popular?

WASHINGTON — Lately, I have been very intrigued by the various popularity polls that are being taken by our leading pollsters. Last week, for example, both Lou Harris and George Gallup revealed that Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy's popularity with the American people had gone down because of her fight with William Manchester over "the book." At the same time, Gallup reported that Sen. Robert Kennedy's popularity was greater than President Johnson's.

I really don't know who is popular or unpopular in this country any more until I read the polls. The question is, do people lose popularity before or after a poll is taken?

To ascertain this fact, I started some polling of my own. "Sir," I asked a man, "what do you think of Jackie Kennedy's popularity?"

"I guess it's okay," he said. "Well, it isn't exactly okay. The polls revealed that her image had been hurt because of her fight with Manchester."

"I didn't know that," he said. "In that case I guess she's lost popularity."

"Exactly. Do you think more of Mrs. Kennedy or less of Mrs. Kennedy now than you did before?"

"Well, I guess I have to think less of her if her popularity has gone down, I mean, you can't think more of a person if the polls say people don't think as much of her."

"I must add," I said, "that 33 per cent of those polled by Lou Harris said they thought less of her, while 10 per cent said they thought more of her, though a majority of 51 per cent said they still felt the same about her."

"I see. That changes things, doesn't it? I would say, then, that although I might think less of Mrs. Kennedy for getting into a fight with Manchester I think more of her now because obviously she knew people would think less of her when the polls came out."

"Sir, you've got to take one side or the other."

"I'm trying to be objective about it, but I forgot what the question was."

"All right, let's go on to Sen. Robert Kennedy for a moment. Do you think Sen. Robert Kennedy is more popular than President Johnson?"

"How do the pollsters read it?"

"Gallup says he's more popular, but Lou Harris says he's less popular."

"May I ask a question?"

"Certainly."

"Is George Gallup more popular than Lou Harris or is Lou Harris more popular than George Gallup?"

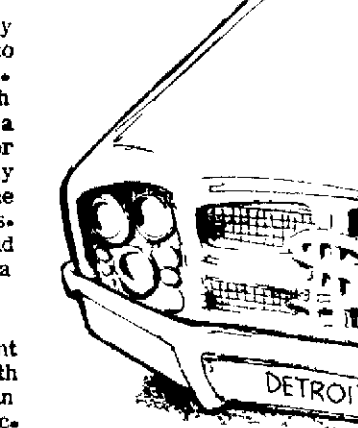

"I don't think a poll's ever been taken on that. What difference would it make?"

"Well, if George Gallup is more popular than Lou Harris, then his popularity poll on Sen. Kennedy would be more popular and vice versa. I don't think pollsters should take popularity polls on other people until they find out how people feel about them."

"I never thought about that," I said. "How would you go about it?"

"Well, the first thing I'd ask the public is whether Lou Harris or George Gallup's image was hurt by doing a poll on Mrs. Kennedy's popularity."

Bobby's Emissary Laid an Egg

WASHINGTON — Bobby Kennedy would have got further in his battle to censor Der Stern magazine and the Manchester book in Hamburg if he had sent someone else as his emissary. The emissary was William Van Den Heuvel, who once worked for Bobby in the Justice Department and who is married to the lovely daughter of Jules Stern, powerful head of the Music Corporation of America.

Van Den Heuvel was a popular figure with the Kennedy jet set in Washington, but in Germany he laid an egg.

The Cowles Publications sent Look's top editor, William Attwood, to Germany to persuade Stern to censor the text. Attwood once served as American Ambassador to Guinea and later to Kenya where he scored remarkable diplomatic victories. He used the same technique in Germany.

Van Den Heuvel, however, poked a finger at Henri Nannen, top Stern editor.

"You insulted Robert Kennedy," he bellowed. "You ought to apologize."

Nannen quietly closed his briefcase.

"Let's get out of here," he said. Then, turning to his foreign editor, Ebon Vacek, he remarked in German, "What is 'Flegel' in English?"

"Flegel" is the German for someone who doesn't behave, but Vacek couldn't find the right translation and by this time Van Den Heuvel had quieted down. Later he apologized.

Stern's editors knew they were on solid ground, because the German copyright law is different from the American in that ownership of a piece of literature rests with the publisher the minute he starts to print. Once the presses start to roll, the author has nothing to say about copyright. The second edition of Stern had already started to come off the press when Jackie brought her suit.

Furthermore, German law requires that the suit be brought at the seat of the publishing house, which in the case of Der Stern is a small village, Itzehoe, 20 miles from Hamburg. Look magazine had overlooked this requirement.

Later Van Den Heuvel, faced with these facts, stood up and read to the German publisher, Dr. Gert Bucnerus, and his staff a peremptory warning that they would have to censor that part of the book to which Bobby Kennedy and Jackie objected. He claimed that what he read was a message from Jackie on behalf of her children. However, it was contained in a little black-notebook and didn't sound like Jackie.

"Let us see the message," said Vacek. Van Den Heuvel refused.

What SS Tax Hikes Mean

What would the huge bundle of proposed Social Security benefit boosts and liberalizations now being debated by Congress mean to you, the American employee who is contributing to the Social Security system today?

How much bigger would the bite from your regular paycheck be if Congress votes the full package submitted by the President, or its equivalent?

A central point, almost hidden in the new proposed web of benefit and tax hikes, is that only those of you who are earning more than $6,000 a year would be affected before 1969 by the tax hikes the President is asking to finance the multi-billion dollar package. Today, only about one in five workers is earning an amount above $6,000. Thus, the vast majority of workers and their employers would continue under today's maximum contribution of $21.45 a month each.

In 1969 — still two years away — today's law will hike the monthly Social Security contribution of the $6,000 a year worker to $24.20. The proposed law would hike this worker's contribution only an extra 55 cents to $24.75 per month. And in 1973, the ultimate maximum for this worker would be $27.50 under the proposed law instead of today's scheduled maximum of $26.68.

In short, the average employee would barely be affected, even over the long range, by the tax hike now being considered. However, for those of you in higher income brackets, the new Social Security tax bite would be definitely discernible.

If you are now and expect to remain in the $10,800 and up income bracket, your monthly Social Security contribution would jump next year from the scheduled $21.45 to a new maximum of $26.35. It would ultimately go to a ceiling of $45.00 from 1973 on, compared with the $26.68 due under present law.

Translated into yearly totals, the maximum combined employer-employee S.S. tax would ultimately rise from today's scheduled maximum of $640.32 to $1,080 and with Medicare taxes added, this ultimate maximum would be $1,252.80.

These higher contributions, though, also would help finance your own higher benefits later. Under today's law, the top monthly Social Security benefit you as an individual worker can ever expect is $168. This sum will become less and less realistic in terms of your actual living costs than it already is — and today no one is yet eligible to receive this maximum. But under the proposed law, this maximum rate would rise to $288 a month. And benefits for retired couples, widows and disabled workers also would climb in the years ahead.

Thus, as Congress debates the size and financing of benefit rises, you and I must weigh for Der Stern against the Kennedy family, Van Den Heuvel indicated to the German press that Stern's editors had not treated him right. The press asked the editors about this treatment.

"We only gave him Mosel 1959, caviar, smoked salmon, Beef Stroganoff and Camembert cheese!" protested one of the editors.

In the end, editor Nannen bowed to Jackie's request and is censoring all that she wanted out of the Look magazine installments. He did not bow to Bobby Kennedy's request. At first the Kennedy family wanted 7,000 words chopped out of the Look installments.

What Der Stern is censoring is not too important.

Jackie asked that the reference to the fact that she had cigarettes in her handbag be deleted.

She also asked that a reference come out of the book to the effect that she had developed a wrinkle on her forehead after the first hectic day in Texas.

Jackie also asked that her statement to Mac Kilduff, assistant White House press secretary be cut. She had told Kilduff after the Presidential plane arrived at Andrews Field from Dallas: "Tell the press I sat with Jack, not with him!" — referring to President Johnson.

She also asked that there be no reference to her sprawling out on Jack's bed," again referring to President Johnson.

Those who accompanied Jackie and President Johnson from Dallas to Washington say that the President rested in the Presidential bedroom while making phone calls to Washington. He too was exhausted by the events of that tragic day.

It looks as if Byron De La Beckwith, the Mississippiian charged with the murder of Medgar Evers but never convicted, leads a charmed life. After a long chain of fortuitous events, he's now mentioned as a candidate for lieutenant governor of Mississippi.

Beckwith was tried in January, 1964, by an all-white jury which voted 7-5 for acquittal. A second trial, April 17, 1964, resulted in a mistrial.

Later Beckwith received $25,630 from the federal government when the General Services Administration selected his land for a post office.

In fairness to GSA, it should be noted that Beckwith's land had been up for purchase prior to the murder, though the purchase was not consummated until afterwards.

Having been exonerated in the Medgar Evers murder and having won a lot of publicity from it, and having profited by a $25,630 land sale to the same government which prosecuted him, Beckwith is now talking about running for lieutenant governor of Mississippi.

What would the huge bundle of proposed Social Security benefit boosts and liberalizations now being debated by Congress mean to you, the American employee who is contributing to the Social Security system today?

How much bigger would the bite from your regular paycheck be if Congress votes the full package submitted by the President, or its equivalent?

Machine Envy is Spreading

(C) N.Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON — Living cheek-by-transistor, as we all do nowadays, with machines of staggering competence, we are naturally bound to develop neuroses different from those that afflicted grandfather. It is not surprising, then, that psychiatrists report a rapidly rising incidence of machine envy.

Isolated cases of machine envy have been reported since the dawn of time. The late Dr. Wolfgang Herzscht of Leipzig contended 40 years ago, for example, that Daedalus and Icarus, in yielding to the absurd notion that wax wings were aerodynamically sound, were in fact suffering acute machine envy.

Dr. Herzscht contended that they wanted to be airplanes. Dr. Herzscht's effort to popularize the concept of machine envy by calling it "the Icarus complex" failed, principally because a large body of psychiatric opinion rejected the theory that Daedalus and Icarus really wanted to be airplanes in favor of the opposing theory, that they wanted to be birds.

In any case, machine envy remained such an isolated phenomenon until our own day that Freud did not even mention it in his writings. Today, all the evidence suggests, it is on its way to becoming the leading among the young.

Who is not familiar with the unhappy youth complaining that he cannot get himself "turned on"? Tell him gently that he is not a television set, and he may reply, "Dad, you're just not tuned in," thereby revealing that he thinks of his father not as a father, but as a radio.

In his moments of happiness, the person with machine envy will declare himself "plugged in" or "switched on." Objects or persons that please him, he may describe as "gear," "tough" the term is not in decline. Its successor will probably be "piston" or "carb," or perhaps "tube."

Machine envy, of course, is not solely a neurosis of the young. The man who secretly craves to be a big wheel is usually in his middle years. At political conventions, people past the age of retirement just openly to be parts of a steamroller. The automakers of Detroit are firmly convinced that the American in his 40s equate engine horsepower with personal virility.

The interesting distinction here is that the older set tends to envy what is now called "the last generation" of machines — gadgets that relied on engines, wheels, boilers and carburetors — while young people seem to want to be "new generation" machines, that is, things like radios, tv sets, stereo rigs; machines of the electronic era. Thus, the natural tension between generations is deepened.

To illustrate, let us consider the all too common situation of the father who craves to be a big wheel living under the same roof with the son who wants to be a stereo tuner. Here we have the elements of every-day family disaster.

The son, driven by his intense need to be, first, plugged in, then switched on, and finally tuned in with delicate precision can obtain no satisfaction at home.

The father, wanting to be a big wheel, has no time for switching on stereo tuners, if he has a stereo tuner at all, he probably doesn't even know if it is plugged in. He is far too busy getting executive haircut and entertaining the board chairman of general rats.

When he has time to think of his son at all, he usually wastes it in sermons explaining that no boy worth his salt would sit around sulking about not being able to be a stereo tuner when, with a little effort, he could be a big wheel.

In fact, no boy worth his salt will settle for being a last-generation machine when he sees boys all around him being tv sets, radar dishes, amplifying speakers and oscilloscopes. He sees the computer replacing not only people, but also wheels, and he does not want to cast his fate with the doomed.

He will almost certainly insult his father ("It's big wheels that have made the world the mess it is today"), leave home and settle with people who will plug him in, turn him on, tune him in and thus satisfy his yearning to pluck operators out of the air, run them through his body and transform them into curious sounds.

Thus, father and son end glaring angrily at each other across a chasm, each convinced that the other is out of touch with reality. ("Fink! all you want out of life is to be a wheel!" They are both ridiculous, of course. The only thing really worth being in this day and age is a laser.

Heart Specimen Exhibit In National Bank Window

The local Heart Fund Cam-paign is highlighted by an exhibit of heart specimens, both human and animal, now on display in the inside window of the Warren National Bank.

This outstanding exhibit is part of the collection in the pathology department of the Warren State Hospital and is the work of Kenneth Wolfe, medical research scientist II.

The coronary arteries and veins have been filled with colored silicone rubber and the heart tissues made transparent by immersion in alcohol, dioxane, and methyl salicylate.

The corrosion preparations, showing plastic casts of the ves-sels only, are made by inject-ing a plastic material into the vessels, allowing it to become rigid, and then removing the tissues by immersion in a con-centrated potassium hydroxide solution.

Some of the specimens are embedded in blocks of clear plastic. Recent improvements in plastic materials available for embedding have made it pos-sible to produce specimens of extreme clarity and the method is described in the article Mr. Wolfe wrote and had published by the American Journal of Medical Technology.

Mr. Wolfe has had ten pa-pers published on the subjects of anesthetic equipment, use of plastics, problems relating to cardiac resuscitation, anatomy of the coronary arteries, and the preparation of lung speci-mens for study. In 1948, in association with a famous Cleveland, Ohio, inventor, R. J. Rand II, two machines were de-veloped which were among the first of their type and have been widely used throughout the United States and abroad. These machines were the Rand-Wolfe Respirator, a mechanical breathing device, and the Vacu-um Cu-Defibrillator, a de-vice for massaging the fibrilla-ting heart and restoring a co-ordinated beat by electric shock in open-chest resuscitation.

Specimens prepared by Mr. Wolfe have been exhibited at many medical conventions and have been considered outstand-ing. His preparations are found in the Smithsonian Hall of Health, University of Nebraska Museum, Boston Museum of Sci-ence, Cleveland Health Mu-seum, and many private col-lections.

Wolfe holds a B.S. Degree from Penn College, Cleveland, Ohio and has spent thirty-two years in his chosen field. He resides at 5 Thomas avenue, North Warren, with his wife and two children, Gloria and Ken-neth. Two married daughters live near Cleveland, Ohio.

Fine Representation

"We have a nice crowd tonight," a female Meadville wrestling fan was heard to remark prior to Friday night's match. Her knowledgeable male companion, however, replied, "Yeh, but most of them are from Warren."

We may have lost the match, but, if a head-count had been taken, we would have won the attendance contest.

Seriously, the coaches and grapplers were very appreciative of the fine following. Nancy Clapp and her cheerleaders are also to be commended for doing an excellent job, the spirit made us proud of our alma mater.

We happened to be in position to overhear a very humorous incident prior to the varsity match. A school official asked — well, he almost demanded — that the Dragon Pep Band's bass drummer move away from the scorer's table. The scorers, he explained, were not accustomed to so much noise and he was afraid it would hinder their accuracy!

Perhaps the next time our matmen visit Meadville, they can arrange to have the basketball scorekeepers record the match. They should be used to the racket customary at a sporting event.

Meadville has a very fine wrestling team. It's unfortunate that they don't have a bigger following, especially at home. If the Dragons had a 20-plus win streak going, seats would be at a premium in the WAHS gym.

What Happened?

The question we have heard most often since Friday night is, "What happened at Meadville?"

Our answer has been that, yes, Meadville has a good wrestling team and maybe the Dragons were too high. Both teams were up, and Bulldog coach Dick Lumley gave Ron Johnson credit for inspiring his teammates with a pre-match talk, but the Blue and White grapplers were a little tight.

Even our three winners did not wrestle particularly well, as reflected by the close scores in two of the bouts. We especially enjoyed the 103-pound match, a 1-0 decision by Dana Sorensen.

After a scoreless first period, Dan Coon of the Bulldogs had his choice of position in the second stanza and elected the bottom, a daring decision. Sorensen rode tough for two minutes, then tallied an escape with 30 seconds remaining in the bout for the triumph.

There are no alibis, we were just outwrestled. The Dragons can redeem some respect in the Section IV tourney, which is at Franklin on Saturday, February 18, by the way.

Then, there's always next year.

Beaty Cagers Blast Eisenhower, 59-27

The Beaty Junior High School cagers upped their record to 9-5 for the season with a 59-27 win over host Eisenhower yesterday.

Leading the little Dragons were "Steady Eddie" O'Neil and Mark Dahler with 14 points apiece. Adding 13 to the Beaty offense was Jim Monaghan.

The only other member of the Blue and Gold to score more than two points was Pat Murphy with three.

A total of 12 little Dragons found their way into the scoring column.

Leading the little Knights was Ken Burford with 12 points, Following with eight points was Bob North.

Beaty jumped to a quick 15-5 first quarter advantage. They improved their lead in the second period by outscoring the little Knights by a 10-3 margin. The third quarter was the real back-breaker for Eisenhower. Beaty outscored them 21-10 to take a 46-18 lead into the last quarter.

On Friday the Blue and Gold travels to Bradford for a return match with the little Owls.

Plan Corn Air Drop for Deer

GREENSBURG, Pa. (AP) — The Southwest Aero Game Feeding Club said yesterday it needs 25,000 bushels of corn to air drop to deer over 600 square miles of remote mountain areas.

Club Director Trice Seibert asked sportsmen to help supply the 5,000 bushels needed each of the next five Sundays. Planes from airports at Somerset, Connelville, Johnstown, Latrobe and Ebensburg will take part in the air drops.

Seibert said a low deer kill the past hunting season has resulted in a scarcity of natural food for deer in the remote areas.

Adopt Projects At Brokenstraw

The Brokenstraw Fish and Game Club met last week to plan several new projects including an addition to the clubhouse, a storage building on the trap range, establishment of a fly-fishing area and another tag fishing contest.

The clubhouse will be expanded by 50x50, including a 10x50 porch. The building on the trap range will be 20x40 with a shelter area. Lights will also be installed on the range.

The fly-fishing area will be on the Brokenstraw Creek from Garland Furniture to the Cole Hill bridge. The request has been submitted to the Pennsylvania Fish Commission for its approval.

More information on the tag fishing contest will be announced at a later date. The Youngsville bridge has been designated as the Junior Fishing area.

Billy O'Dell Signs Pact with Pirates

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates said yesterday they have received a signed contract for the 1967 season from southpaw pitcher Billy O'Dell.

O'Dell, obtained from Atlanta in a trade last June, completed the 1966 season with a combined record of 5-5 and an earned run average of 2.63. Used mostly in relief, he was credited with seven saves for the Pirates.

NEW KING IN KENTUCKY - By Alan Maver

THE KENTUCKY WILDCATS MAY HAVE BEEN HAVING THEIR TROUBLES, BUT THE STATE'S CAGE HONOR IS BEING UPHOLD BY B.L. PECK "HICKMAN," WHOSE 23RD UNIV. OF LOUISVILLE TEAM HAS BEEN RANKED NEAR THE TOP MOST OF THE SEASON. IF HIS BOYS CAN QUALIFY FOR THE N.C.A.A. TOURNAMENT AND REACH THE FINALS, THEY WILL HAVE MORE THAN TALENT GOING FOR THEM. THE GAMES WILL BE PLAYED ON THEIR HOME COURT, FREEDOM HALL.

Hope Classic Victor Had To Be 'Coaxed' to Enter

BOCA RATON, Fla. (AP) — Tom Nieporte said yesterday that he had to be coaxed to play in the Bob Hope Desert Golf Classic.

Nieporte, whose wife is expecting her eighth child within a month — "during the Doral Open" — won the $17,600 first prize Sunday at Palm Springs, Calif., for his first big tournament victory in seven years.

He was also the first teaching professional to win a tour event since 1965.

Nieporte arrived at his winter home yesterday morning and was met by his wife, Joan, his seven children, photographers, reporters and his Dalmatian, "Patches."

"You'd think I won a National Open," he said.

Nieporte went to the West Coast to play in the Bing Crosby pro-am tournament with Richard Remsen of the Locust Valley, N.Y., club. Then, when it came over, he wanted to come home. But his wife told him he ought to stay on for the Los Angeles Open.

He did and won $1,750 for 14th place. Still he wanted to come home. But his wife persuaded him to stay while he was hot.

"He had the plane ticket in his pocket," she said yesterday.

Along with top prize money Nieporte won a Chrysler Imperial. But when the company found out he would soon have eight children Chrysler took back the Imperial and instead gave Nieporte a station wagon and a smaller car for his personal use.

Nieporte, who fired the decisive stroke with a putter, with his wife's name inscribed on it, leaves today for the Caribbean tour. After that comes the Doral Open in Miami and the arrival of their eighth child.

ONLY WOLVERINES IDLE TONIGHT

Dragons, Knights Home; Eagles, Bulldogs Travel

The Warren Dragons will be out to make it a clean sweep over the Kane Wolves tonight as they meet on the WAHS hardwood at 8 p.m.

Other games on the county schedule have Youngsville at Sparta, Pleasantville at Eisenhower and Tidoute visits East Forest. All three games are in the Upper Allegheny Valley League.

Sheffield, the other county entry, is idle until Friday when they travel to Bradford Central Christian.

On Dec. 20, the Dragons overcame a halftime deficit to win the Wolves 91-65.

In that game Scott Hunter set a Warren Area High School scoring mark by tallying 40 points.

Hunter's second half scoring plus the work of Steve Tundel were instrumental in the win.

Besides these two, Shantz will have Dan Krumm, Randy Jones and Mike Hesch in the starting lineup. Hunter and Hesch are seniors. The other three are sophomores.

Kane has been entangled in one of its worst seasons. They presently have a 2-13 record overall and an 0-6 mark in the District 9-A league.

The probable starting lineup for the visitors will be Bill Griffith, Don Holt, Harrison Snapp, John Street and Jim Williamson. The first man off the bench for the Wolves will be Jim Zampogna.

Warren enters the game with a 6-10 mark. On the WAHS floor they have a 4-5 record. After tonight, they have only two home games left. Corry and Bradford still have to make trips to town.

In a big UAVL game, Youngsville travels to Spartansburg. In an earlier meeting the Spartans came from behind in the final minutes to pull out a 62-59 victory.

Bob Troyer of the Spartans led all scorers in the first meeting with 17 points. Last week he missed one game and only scored eight in the other outing against West Forest.

Three other Spartans scorers hit double figures. They are Elden Miller (14), Bruce Allen (13) and Don Minnick (10). The other starter will be Barry Scouten.

Starting for the Eagles will be Bob Chisholm, high scorer in the first game with 14 points, Ron Knapp, 14 points, Gary Carter, 10, and Milt Johnson. The fifth spot is up for grabs between Denny Walton and George Nelson.

Coach Paul Siegel said that he wouldn't name the fifth man until game time.

Siegel said that this is a "must game" for the Eagles. Sparta is currently tied with East Forest for the league lead with 7-1 records. Youngsville has a 5-2 mark.

East Forest might have things a little easier than Sparta. They will host Tidoute. In the first meeting between these two teams the Bears scored a 79-45 win.

Junior Ed Ziegler was high man for the Bulldogs with 13 points. He will be joined by Bob Bosko, Bill Brown, Harry Hopkins and Max Anderson in the starting five.

The East Forest five can't be too complacent for this game. In their last outing the Bulldogs scored 82 points against Sparta. The only trouble was that Sparta scored 99.

Starting for the Bears will be high scoring Pat McClellan, Bill Ranton, Rick Anders, Tom Glenn and Dan Motter.

The other game on tap has Pleasantville at Eisenhower. The Falcons own a 9-4-5 win over the Knights in league play.

In that game Bob Burlingame, the Knights 6-4 center, was held to 13 points. This is about 10 points below his average per game output.

Three other members of the Knights also hit double figures in that game. Barton Lohnes had 11 and Dave Van Cise and Bill McFarland each had 10. The other starter will be Gary Fry.

The high scoring Falcons will go with a starting lineup made up of Stan Perrett, Gregg Holtz, Gary Reynolds, Joe Allis and Ron Gamish.

Bobby Dodd
Veteran Coach Quits

but I didn't make up my mind for sure until last Friday," Dodd said. "It has been pretty gloomy for me since then. There's never a good time to quit."

Dodd bowed out with a coaching record of 165 victories, 64 losses and 8 ties. His teams went to bowl games 13 times and won all but four. Dodd had only two losing seasons, when his Yellow Jackets were 4-6 in 1945, his first year as head coach, and when they slipped to a 5-6 mark in 1950.

Throughout his career Dodd was noted for his relaxed attitude and his easy drills, with his emphasis placed on a philosophy that college football players could have fun and still win.

Mack's Son Dies, Was Philly Exec

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Earle T. (McGillivuddy) Mack, 77, son of the late Connie Mack and a former executive of the old Philadelphia Athletics of the American League, died Sunday after suffering a stroke last week in suburban Delaware County Memorial Hospital.

He was admitted to the hospital Jan. 25 for a checkup.

The second of three sons of the legendary baseball figure, Mack spent 15 years in the minor leagues as a player and a manager before being brought up to the A's by his father in 1924 as a non-playing assistant. He remained with the club in varying capacities until it was sold and moved to Kansas City in November, 1954.

Mack and his older brother, Roy F., who died in 1960, bought a controlling interest in the A's in 1950. They sold their shares to Arnold Johnson of Kansas City.

Mack was born in East Brookfield, Mass., and moved to Philadelphia with his family during his high school days. He maintained a home here.

He played for such minor league teams as Atlantic City, N.J.; Asheville, N.C.; Charlotte, N.C.; Harrisburg, Pa., and Hagerstown, Md. He was manager of teams in Moline, Ill., and Martinsburg, W. Va.

Survivors include a son, Earle Jr., Charlotte; a grandson, his stepmother, a half-brother and four half-sisters. Burial will be in Morgantown, N.C.

Newest NFL Entry To Stockpile Vets

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The New Orleans Saints will get their first opportunity to stockpile veteran players later this week in the National Football League expansion draft—and if they're as successful as Atlanta they could wind up with 18 starters.

The NFL announced yesterday that the Saints would be handed the veteran player lists sometime Thursday and reveal their selections Friday under an allocation formula identical with the one used to stock the fledgling Falcons a year ago.

Under that system, the Atlanta club tapped 18 players who eventually held down starting jobs in the Falcons' first year of operation.

The Falcons will be the only team excluded from the new stocking plan with the Saints selecting three from each of the other 14 NFL teams for a total of 42 veteran players.

Each existing team will be able to freeze, or protect, 29 plays on its 40-player roster. From the remaining 11, New Orleans will then select one player.

After that pick, there will be a re-freeze with the existing clubs protecting two more players and the Saints then selecting their final two men from among the eight still available.

The lists will be handed to Report Best Bear Kill Since 1930

Pennsylvania's bear hunters had their best season in 36 years in 1966 as they reported harvesting a total of 605 bruins, the Pennsylvania Game Commission announced Friday.

The 605 is an impressive jump over the 347 that were reported taken in the state during the 1965 season.

The harvest is the fourth highest since record-keeping on bears was started in 1915. The only bears in which the 1966 figure was exceeded were 1924, when 929 were taken; 1926, when hunters bagged 660; and 1930, when 707 were harvested.

Game Commission Executive Director Glenn L. Bowers, in announcing the figure, said, "The harvest reflects on the accuracy of pre-season estimates on the size of our brum population. Damage complaints, highway mortality and sightings indicated that there were plenty of black bears available."

He continued, "Our game management objectives required a larger bear harvest in 1966. This goal was achieved, and I feel this reflects favorably on the Commission's decision to run the bear and turkey seasons concurrently in the northeastern part of the state, where there was a large supply of both species."

The harvest, Bowers said, does not include 86 bruins which were killed on highways, because of crop damage, etc. The size of the harvest hopefully will help to reduce this figure in 1967.

Concluding, Bowers said, "While the harvest was rather high, there is nothing to indicate that the bear population has been endangered by hunting pressure. We are convinced that we still have a sizable bear population."

According to Game Commission Technician Henry McCauley, who compiled the data on the bear harvest, the top five counties for bruins were Cameron, 86; Clinton, 67; Elk, 59; Lycoming, 55; and Pike 47.

Of that group, 18 were able to grab starting jobs with the Falcons and hold them throughout most of the season.

Gannon '5' Upsets Cheyney St.

ERIE—The Gannon College Golden Knights pulled off another big upset last night as they crushed Cheyney State, 58-54.

Cal Graham sparked the Knights to their 10th win of the season against seven losses. Graham, known as the "Cracker," scored 22 points. Cheyney came into the game with a 16-1 record. They were ranked third on the AP poll. Their only loss of the season came last week against Mansfield State College.

Besides Graham, Ben Wiley hit double figures for the Erie five. He finished the night with 13 markers.

Leading Cheyney was Tom Washington with 23 points and Dave Kennard with 10. Hal Booker, who was leading the nation in field goal accuracy, suffered from the floor. He hit on only four of 14 shots. He cashed in one foul shot to give him nine points for the night. Booker had eight in the first half.

Gannon fell behind 6-2 early in the game and had to play catch-up. They finally evened the count at 26-26 late in the half. A basket by Graham sent the Knights into the lockerroom with a 28-26 margin.

Cheyney came out and took a 30-28 lead. Graham hit three straight baskets to give the Knights a 36-30 lead.

Gannon built up as much as a seven point spread in the half. At one time the lead went to 39-32 and again late in the game it increased to 58-51.

On Thursday night the Knights will host John Carroll University of Cleveland.

fought Clay even in the early going, but the Louisville Lip made good his promise to "punish" the challenger in the later rounds, cutting him badly and hitting him almost at will.

HOUSTON (AP)—Cassius Clay turned butcher and gave big Ernie Terrell a savage, bloody beating last night for a unanimous 15-round decision that removed all doubts about his rights to the undisputed world heavyweight title.

Terrell, recognized as champ by the World Boxing Association after it withdrew its recognition of Clay, was a slow-moving, easy target for the speedy Clay who battered him around both eyes.

Terrell's right eye was closed to a narrow slit from the fourth round on and he bled off and on from a sliced right eyebrow after the seventh.

Big Ernie, from Chicago and Atlantic City, N.J., never went down but he never was in it. Clay taunted Terrell and asked "What's my name?" in the eighth and ninth as he gave the 6-foot-6 Terrell the same kind of beating he had handed ex-champ Floyd Patterson at Las Vegas, Nev., in 1965.

Patterson was a TKO victim, but Terrell went the route without hitting the deck.

Terrell had called Clay by his given name at a meeting during the publicity buildup for the fight and refused to use the Muslim name, Muhammad Ali, that Clay prefers.

It was the 28th straight victory for the unbeaten, 25-year-old Clay who announced Saturday he was moving to Houston as his latest adopted city.

Referee Harry Kessler scored the fight 148-138, Judge Jimmie Webb had it 148-133 and Judge Ernie Taylor 146-137, all for Clay. The AP card was 149-136, giving Terrell only one round—the second by a shade.

"I wanted to knock him out after eight, but he wouldn't go," Clay said.

The champion added: "He just stood there taking my punches, hoping to tire me out. But he didn't hurt me, I don't have any scratches on me."

Terrell, acknowledged as a left jab artist, fought with both hands high in the peek-a-boo style Patterson used to use.

Clay found it hard to pierce that defense in the first few rounds but soon found his target. Ernie also had trouble unleashing his fine left jab from that position and concentrated more on wild right hand punches to the body.

After the fight was over, Terrell made two trips to Clay's corner to offer his congratulations to his unmarked opponent. At 212½ pounds, Terrell had a four-ounce edge on Clay who scaled 212¼ pounds.

Clay had boasted Saturday when he finished training that he would give Terrell a "Floyd Patterson humiliation beating" and he did just that.

Terrell was game to the very end, trying to sneak a long left or a right when he got a chance. But it was a rout for the former Olympic champ who was making his eighth defense of the crown he won from Sonny Liston at Miami Beach Feb. 25, 1964.

If there was any doubt about this fight, it vanished in the seventh when Clay threw barrage after barrage at Terrell, opening the cut over his right eye. Still, in the final seconds of the round, big Ernie threw a desperate, long right hand that clipped Clay.

Cassius never was hurt or shaken up although he taunted Terrell and invited him to throw the left at his chin.

Cassius played the cat and mouse game with his foe, even outdoing him when they resorted to wrestling tactics in the early rounds.

At times Terrell held his hands so high that it almost looked as though he was wearing a bonnet. Little by little the hands came down as Clay's shots continued to find their mark.

Carrier Leaves Cape Town Amid Racial Controversy

By ROBERT N. LINDSAY
CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — The U.S. aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt completed refueling and provisioning yesterday and departed for home at dusk, nearly 24 hours ahead of schedule. But controversy over her stay here continued.

The belief in Cape Town was that the carrier — en route from Vietnam — left ahead of schedule because of grumbling among her crewmen over cancellation of shore leaves in South Africa.

The cancellation order came after Washington said shore leave must be subject to racially integrated practices. The carrier has about 400 Negroes among her 3,800-man crew. This fouled up elaborate arrangements made by the Cape Town City Council and hundreds of South Africans to entertain the carrier's crew members. The arrangements had been made largely on the basis of South Africa's race segregation policies.

At least a dozen offers for racially integrated hospitality in which 250 crew members could have participated were made to the carrier before liberty was barred Saturday. They included a bus tour organized by Cape Town's City Council and from families who had invited white and Negro sailors together as guests.

The carrier's executive officer, Cmdr. Robert F. Schoultz, said, "We felt we could not allow 250 men out of 3,800 to go ashore because they were lucky enough to get what we were required to give them regarding shore facilities. How could we pick the men? It was impossible. So we simply canceled leave for everyone."

He denied reports that the men were restless and unhappy about the liberty ban. "Morale is high," he said.

Johannesburg's independent Star summed up the furor as "a tragedy of errors." It said what might have been a breakthrough had ended in a breakdown which left the situation between South Africa and the United States worse than before.

Gen. Westmoreland Orders Vietnamese Image Bettered

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — Gen. William C. Westmoreland has ordered a campaign in U.S. military units to change the image of the South Vietnamese soldier from one who shirks his duty, ducks combat and is likely to desert, it was learned yesterday.

The U.S. military commander in Vietnam is said to be concerned that U.S. public support of the Vietnamese war may be shaken unless that image is dispelled.

Westmoreland gave the word to his top generals at a recent unpublicized conference. The four-star general emphasized that he does not share any feeling of disenchantment with the Vietnamese troops, and that he believes it is unfair.

Westmoreland told his commanders that anybody who raps the Vietnamese soldiers is criticizing the results of a 10-year effort by thousands of American advisers to shape the Vietnam ese army into an effective combat weapon.

The American chief showed he is aware of talk among U.S. officers and enlisted men downgrading the Vietnamese soldier as a fighter.

Westmoreland warned that, if such attitudes are not changed, they will spread through news media to the U.S. public and that this, in turn, could imperil U.S. aims in Vietnam. It could boil down to the success or failure of the American effort, Westmoreland said.

The U.S. commander claimed that the motivation of the Vietnamese enlisted man is improving steadily and that the caliber of Vietnamese noncoms and junior officers has been getting better.

The new campaign follows by about three months a Westmoreland directive requiring his commanders and their information officers to play up the Vietnamese role in pacification and revolutionary development.

Communists Escape Venezuela Prison

By CLEM COHEN
CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Three top Communists escaped from a heavily guarded prison in the heart of carnival-reveling Caracas yesterday through a tunnel associates dug from a grocery store nearby. Jose Gabriel Paez, chief of the political police, said it must have taken a year to dig it.

The search for the fugitives will be difficult, he said, because they could put on costumes and masks and lose themselves in the carnival crowds.

The fugitives jailed as hard-line Reds who fostered armed revolution, are Pompeyo Marquez, a member of the Venezuelan Communist party Central Committee; Guillermo Garcia Ponce, member of the party's Politburo, and Teodoro Petkoff, a guerrilla leader whose brother, Luben, leads a band of pro-Castro insurgents in the backlands.

They were ordered jailed by President Romulo Betancourt in 1963.

They escaped from the San Carlos Military Prison, a maximum security institution. A tunneling attempt was made there three years ago by members of the Communist Armed Forces of National Liberation.

The revolutionaries rented a house close to the prison and began tunneling.

Drunken Driving Charges Costs Wesleyville Man

MAYVILLE, N.Y. — William J. Morgan, 25, of Wesleyville was fined $400 in Chautauque County Court yesterday. A one-year jail sentence was suspended.

Morgan, charged with drunken driving, was arrested in Mayville last July and pleaded guilty to the charge early last month.

The heavy fine was imposed when court records indicated that the Wesleyville man had been convicted of a similar charge in 1965.

Brandt Foresees Unification

By CARL HARTMAN

BERLIN (AP) — West German Foreign Minister and Vice Chancellor Willy Brandt, arriving in Washington today for talks with President Johnson, says he is looking forward to the day when the East-West split in Europe comes to an end.

The former mayor of West Berlin, itself divided by the Communist wall, added, however: "Of course, it's a long way till we get there."

In an interview shortly before departing on his first visit to the United States as foreign minister, Brandt said:

"The aim of our policy is to overcome the unnatural and artificial division of Europe into two blocs. I am convinced that one day the present political structures will make way for an all-European system in which the division between East and West has been lifted."

His concept of a united Europe sounded similar to French President Charles de Gaulle's view of "Europe united from the Atlantic Ocean to the Ural Mountains." The West German government's recent moves toward freer relations with France are among topics expected to be discussed when Brandt meets Johnson.

Powell to Attend House Investigation Along with Counsel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell notified a special House committee yesterday that he will be on hand tomorrow when it starts its probe of his qualifications to sit as a member of the House.

In a brief telegram to the committee, the New York Democrat said he will be accompanied by counsel, but did not state whether he will actually testify.

Powell was stripped of the chairmanship of the House Education and Labor Committee by the Democratic House caucus last month.

Bishop Pike Begins Tour At Gettysburg College

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — The Rev. James A. Pike, former Episcopal bishop of California whose controversial views on church dogma led to a threatened heresy trial, began a series of appearances yesterday on the conservative old Lutheran campus of Gettysburg College.

His first appearance filled the 1,500-seat Christ Chapel to capacity with students and lay citizens from the surrounding area. The bishop spoke on "Education for Peace through Contemporary Theology" and posed two topical questions: "What can one believe within the framework of contemporary theology?" and "How can one believe at all?"

As recently as two years ago,

Bishop Pike said, the questions were about particular doctrines, but now it is, "How can you affirm anything?"

Bishop Pike has been at the center of a dispute over church doctrine for the past two years. By publicly questioning such concepts as the Virgin Birth and the Trinity, he became the target of bitter attack climaxed last fall when some of his colleagues sought a heresy trial.

The House of Bishops reprimanded the bishop but refused to indict him for heresy. Bishop Pike told his audience yesterday that the church is in decline everywhere. It is reflected, he said, in poor attendance and lack of interest among young people to make the ministry a career.

Vietnam Peace Occupies Most Of Kosygin-Wilson Talks

By ARTHUR L. GAYSHON
LONDON (AP) — Alexei N. Kosygin and Harold Wilson plunged last night into world-ranging talks beginning with the quest for peace in Vietnam. They ordered a total blackout of news of their exchanges.

The examination by the Soviet premier and British prime minister of possible paths to peace came after Wilson was reported working toward at least a temporary cutoff of American bombing in North Vietnam.

Kosygin, for his part, went into the week-long discussions determined to renew Communist demands for an unconditional end to the bombing before any international peacemaking process begins, Soviet sources said.

The glum-looking Russian premier flew into this chilly and foggy capital yesterday morning to a warm welcome by Wilson, who spoke to him as an old friend and a "cool and wise statesman."

The top-level British-Soviet conference began against a background of mounting chaos in Red China and rising tension between Moscow and Peking.

This background reinforces Kosygin's need to stabilize the European salient, where old alliances are crumbling and new loyalties shaping up. This has aroused British hopes that Moscow now may be ready to move towards closer cooperation with the West.

In an hour-long tete-a-tete preceding the formal encounter of their two teams, Kosygin and Wilson swiftly agreed to include five broad themes in their work:

1. European security, including the future of divided Germany and her frontiers.
2. The Vietnam war and the search for a first step towards active peacemaking.
3. Disarmament, with the emphasis on Soviet-American-British work on a world pact to stop the spread of nuclear weapons.
4. British-Soviet relations, where the focus will be on ways to boost the $500-million annual trade flow and particularly Soviet purchases of British goods and plants.
5. Personal cases, which will allow Wilson to press again for the release of British lecturer Gerald Brooke, jailed in the Soviet Union for subversive activities.

IN NICARAGUA

Aguero Rejects Somoza's Offer

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ
MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — Gen. Anastasio Somoza Jr. offered the political opposition a place in his government yesterday but he got a prompt rejection.

Somoza made the offer as returns from Sunday's election showed him as winner of the presidency by more than a 2-1 margin over Dr. Fernando Aguero, candidate of the Conservative party.

At a news conference, Aguero spoke darkly of Nicaragua's political future but said he would be a "frank, honest, loyal" oppositionist. Later he changed his phrasing to say his opposition would be "civic and open."

The latest returns from 560 voting districts out of 2,067 showed Somoza with 120,344 votes to 51,131 for Aguero. Running a poor third was Alejandro Abaunza Marengo, candidate of a splinter Conservative faction.

Charges of extensive fraud came from opposition party headquarters and Aguero, asked if he conceded defeat through fraud, exploded: "No, I've not been defeated. The elections have been usurped."

Aguero's followers claimed ballot boxes with one-third of the total in one city were seized by national guardsmen and that many opposition party judges at polling stations had been jailed for protesting.

Exuding quiet confidence, the youngest heir to the 34-year-old Somoza dynasty stressed at his news conference that conciliation with the political opposition would be undertaken in "a democratic and peaceful way. They'll have all the guarantees under the constitution."

ITE Walkout In Seventh Week

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A strike of 2,700 employees at the I.T.E. Circuit Breaker Co. has entered its seventh week, as members of the Electrical Switchgear Union, independent, voted yesterday to reject the company's so-called "final offer."

The workers, by a vote of 1,513 to 421, turned down the proposed three-year contract which called for wage increases of 4 per cent the first year, 3 per cent the second and 3 per cent the third.

Paul B. McCandless, supervisor of music at Meadville Area High School was the national board member in this area for the group and supported the application of Miss McDonald.

Administration to Plug Income Tax Loopholes

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson's administration will follow its income tax raising bill with legislation to close loopholes in the tax system, Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler said yesterday.

But Fowler told the Senate—House Economic Committee the administration wants Congress to act first, and separately, on the proposal to impose a 6 per cent surcharge on income taxes, effective July 1.

"Experience has shown," he said, "that loophole plugging will be a long and difficult process."

Fowler spoke of the loophole-plugging efforts, which were mentioned only generally and briefly in Johnson's economic report, after committee members' questions gave additional evidence of doubts among some Democrats of the wisdom of a general tax increase.

Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., said he thinks the tax increase is likely "to increase unemployment, especially of Negroes and teenagers." He said there is "a perfectly possible way to increase revenues, although it will take courage."

"It could be done by closing loopholes used especially by persons in the other income brackets," Reuss continued. "Why not send up a good loophole plugging program to raise $3 billion or $4 billion—and then let Congress take the responsibility?"

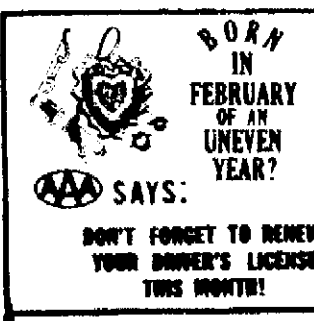

Fowler replied the President had said there would be additional legislation.

No Applicants For Police Jobs

MEADVILLE—The problem of finding new recruits is becoming more acute for the Meadville City Police Dept.

The only applicant from the January advertising period did not receive a satisfactory rating on his civil service aptitude test. As a result there are no qualified applicants for the existing vacancy in the department and other vacancies from retirement are expected this year.

Chief John Holt said the military draft and the high area employment rate for young men are reducing the field of prospective applicants for police work. Holt noted, however, that the Ohio State Police were successful in recruiting more than 40 men recently in Erie.

State police of the Kane substation said Mrs. Isadore suffered bone fractures and has been transferred to the Bradford Hospital.

Slippery driving conditions caused five traffic accidents in Venango County Saturday with three persons suffering injuries.

Treated and released at Oil City Hospital following a two-car crash on Route 8 north of Oil City were Mrs. Grace Hoover, 544 Colbert st., Oil City, and her daughter, Cindy Hoover, along with Barbara Snyder of 207 E. Bissell ave.

Township Heads Hear Broderick

James Stockhill, of Conewango Twp., president of the Warren County Township Supervisors Association, with Robert Schatzle, Glade township supervisor, are among those attending the largest convention of the Pennsylvania Association of Township Supervisors.

Milton W. DeLancey, secretary of the group, of second class townships, said 1,015 delegates were expected.

According to DeLancey, the increase this year over 701 delegates who met in Philadelphia last year is due to the desire to be kept up-to-date on the administration of township government.

Town Crier

... By Les Rickey

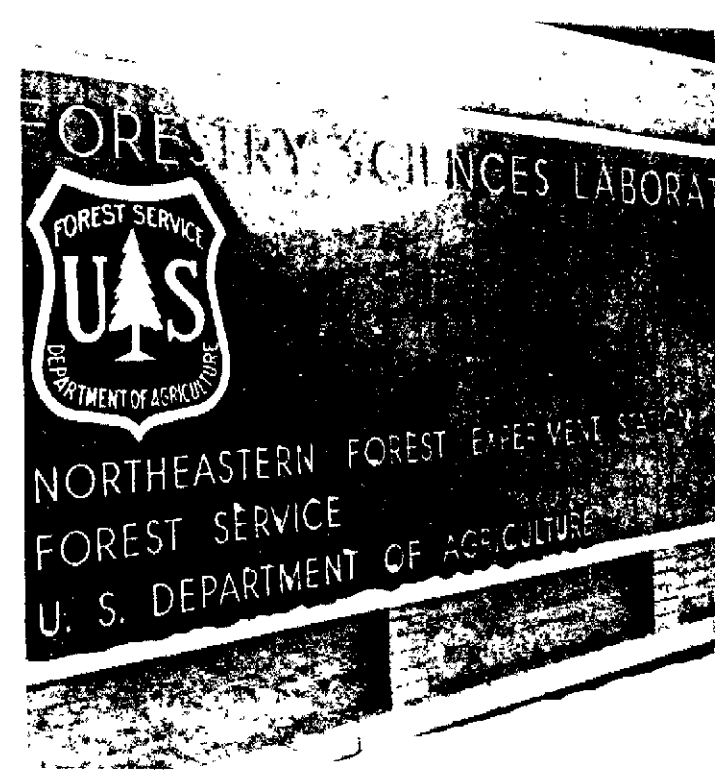

I've been informed that one of my columns did just what I had intended it to do when I wrote it in a moment of spite. It was the article on telephones, in which I said that the things are not as friendly as your television set would have you believe them to be.

Well, the people in some Bell Telephone headquarters monitored the column and called the local office about it. Does he do this often? they asked. And if so, why does he have to pick on Bell Telephone, a multi-billion dollar company that has enough problems as it is?

Now I don't know how they're programmed for humor at the upper levels of that organization, but you'd think they'd see through it right away. I mean, after all, Shelley Berman and the Mike Nichols-Elaine May team did them in real good even before I had a column.

Things like that make me have second thoughts about it all. I've always believed that once you got past the dehumanized part of Bell Telephone, you met some really fine people. But to do so, you have to go through a few nasal-wanging information supervisors, two or three dozen tape-recorded messages, and about a million little beeps and tweeps that make you wonder what part of outer space they're connecting you to—and just how much is it going to cost when you finally do get Mars? But there are human elements in Bell's hierarchy. The best proof is that there is someone, somewhere who has nothing else to do but read clippings from half-baked, telephone-hating columnists—and take them seriously.

There's something paranoid about it all, and you and I both know there isn't an IBM built yet which could handle that job.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A close friend of ours came under discussion last night and someone said, "I wonder what Ann Landers would say about this?" So I am writing to find out.

The man we were talking about is a gifted, warm-hearted guy who has a host of friends who adore him. Yet his whole life has been a litany of inadequacy and failure. He has had three catastrophic marriages and is headed for the fourth.

In spite of extraordinary ability, he has blown some choice professional opportunities. Colleagues with infinitely less talent remained safely ensconced in their jobs and this truly able guy winds up unemployed.

Can it be that he is, as some insist, just one of the world's unluckiest so-and-so's? I am beginning to wonder. What do you say? — FORUM OF THE TWELVE CEASARS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Each of us knows someone who fits the description — a warm-hearted, talented person with a messed up life.

Bad luck? I doubt it. Individuals who attract trouble and repeatedly fail, subconsciously set themselves up for trouble and failure. Their self-destructive drives propel them into situations they know will end in disaster.

These severely neurotic people need professional counseling to gain insight into their self-destructive behavior. Those who reject help do so because self-examination is too painful.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My best friend is making the same mistake I made and I feel guilty because I introduced her to the rat.

Why don't women realize that when a man takes a girl to a motel room, he'll always tell her she's the most wonderful girl in the world and he wants to marry her? What else CAN he say, for heaven's sake? Even when the girl knows Mr. Rat has had dozens of other affairs she is convinced that he lied to the others but is truthful with her.

When my friend repeated the sweet nothings Mr. Rat whispered in her ear it was like seeing a movie for the second time. I knew what the next line would be.

What can I do to make this foolish girl understand that she will end up in the junk heap with me and a dozen others? — X. PERIENCE

DEAR X: Save your breath to cool your soup, Lovey.

Some people stubbornly refuse to take anybody's word for anything. Have you ever noticed the fingerprints around a sign that says "Wet Paint"?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: When a man invites a woman to go on a motor trip with him because he enjoys her company, is it proper for him to expect her to share in the expenses for the car, meals and entertainment? Of course she would pay for her own room.

I am considering taking a trip with a man who has not mentioned expenses and I think we ought to have everything settled before we start. I might as well tell you that I am opposed to paying for anything other than my room because there's a romance involved and I don't believe in spotting a man by letting him have everything for nothing. What do you say? — ROCHES-TER, N. Y.

DEAR ROCH: I don't know what you mean by "every-thing," but I think you'd better stay home.

Sunday the Robert Knapps of 209 Sixth avenue, were honored with a silver anniversary party at their home. Hostesses for the affair were Mrs. Arthur Anderson and Mrs. Gerald Atwell, sisters of Mrs. Knupp, Mrs. William Liberty, her mother; hosts were the couple's three sons, Mike, Dan and David.

Mrs. Knupp received guests in a two piece raspberry color orion dress with which she wore a corsage of white sweetheart roses. Mr. Knupp had a white carnation for his lapel.

The former Miss Betty Liberty became the bride of Robert F. Knupp on February 7, 1942. The nuptial service was held in the Baptist Church, Frewsburg, N.Y., with the Reverend Henry N. Haglund officiating.

Refreshments of punch, coffee, cake and ice cream were served from a table centered with a four tier anniversary cake decorated with silver leaves and topped with a silver "25". The guestbook was managed by Mike and Dan Knupp, and David Knupp, the youngest son, helped his parents welcome guests. A niece, Susan Reynolds, served punch.

Out of town guests were present from Lakewood and Jamestown, N.Y.

St. Michael Church Lenten Services Set

The Rosary will be recited every Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock and The Way of the Cross will be observed every Friday evening at 7 o'clock during Lent.

The Sunday of Orthodoxy will be observed next Sunday. It was instituted by the Eastern Church as a reminder of her victory over the Iconoclasts. About 726 the Byzantine Emperor Leo the Isaurian started a heresy known as "iconoclasm" or image-breaking. He published an edict whereby he forbade rendering honor to the icons (images) of our Lord, the Blessed Mother of God and the saints. He also began a ruthless persecution of their defenders. Countless precious icons were destroyed and many statues were demolished.

In 787 the Holy Fathers of the Church assembled at the second Council at Nicaea and defined that the veneration of the holy icons (pictures) is by no means idolatry and that a relative honor should be paid them for the sake of their prototype.

On this Sunday the Church exhorts the faithful to purify the image of their souls by a true sorrow and penance.

Epistlers for February for the Sunday Spoken Liturgy are Peter Bleech, Steven Hoden, John R. Bross and John Odonish Jr.

The church officers held a meeting in the church pavilion at 4 p.m. this Sunday.

Lenten Tureen to be Held at St. John's

St. John's Lutheran Church will begin its observance of Lent this Ash Wednesday with a tureen dinner at 6:30 p.m. in the education room. The dinner will be followed by a Holy Communion service in the church at 7:30 p.m. performed by the new pastor of the church, the Rev. James McCormick.

Rev. McCormick's meditation will be entitled "Between The Vestibule and the Altar". For the Scripture, the history of the Passion will be used at the mid-week Lenten services. These services will start at 7:30 p.m.

On Wednesday, February 15, the Hartwick College Choir will be at the First Lutheran Church; the meditation topics for the remaining four Wednesdays will be: February 22 "Peter the Puzzle"; March 1, "James and John"; March 8, "Judas, the Greedy"; March 15, "Pilate, the Outsider".

Following services next Sunday morning, there will be a congregational meeting. Installation of Pastor McCormick will take place the following Sunday, February 19, at 7:30 p.m. Immediately after the installation ceremonies, a reception will be held in the educational wing.

Yves Saint Laurent Exhibits Look of '30s

By GLORIA EMERSON
(c) N. Y. Times News Service

PARIS—Pass the message to Marlene Dietrich; Yves Saint Laurent is a fan.

Saint Laurent's new spring-summer collection was drenched with a Dietrich-of-the-1930's look. The show went African toward the end but his first models were in gangster-striped, wide-legged trouser suits that had broad, sharp lapels and three buttons on each sleeve. The girls wore wide neckties, mannish shirts, real vests, watch fobs and handkerchiefs peeking out of their breastpockets. They wore fedoras but they did not smoke cigars.

It is quite a look. The girl who wears it might remember that most men will probably no longer open doors, or give up their seats in a bus, on her behalf.

Saint Laurent introduced his "smoking" — the word the French use for a black tie and dinner jacket which upper-crust Britons consider vulgar — last summer. It was in black velvet. It was an instant hit with lots of dreamy looking, long haired girls who don't have tomboy tendencies at all.

Two of them were at the Saint Laurent show. They were pretty actresses, Catherine Deneuve and Elsa Martinelli. Both wore the same black-striped stockings. More boyish types in the Saint Laurent line-up were Francoise Hardy, possibly the world's best dressed pop singer, and Zizi Jeanmaire, the dancer.

Saint Laurent likes trousers around the clock. His newest "smoking" — made of black alpaca or very fine black wool used for menswear — has a cropped, snug jacket. Instead of peaked lapels, it has a shawl collar at the open and square neckline where a ruffled white shirt shows.

There are wide cummerbunds around the waists and, of course, a satin stripe down the leg of each trouser.

Those "smokings" are not quite as aggressive looking as the daytime trouser suits. Dressed up at night in them, Saint Laurent's fans will look like girls despite it all. And long hair will help.

Instead of a man's neat black tie, the designer puts softer little black ribbon ties at the neck of his ruffly white shirts or folds over a black ascot and lets it hang.

Wide jazzy neckties for women have been a fad in French ready-to-wear for more than a year. Saint Laurent's big "cravates" for daytime are already tied.

There are short, black "smoking" dresses, too, also in alpaca or fine menswear wool for women who cringe at looking somewhat like their husbands at a black tie party. The dresses have princess lines and big ruffled white bias to imitate the look of a dress shirt. Ohrbach's will have a copy next month.

Saint Laurent's spring suits often show very long, tailored jackets with men's flap pockets and skirts with low, box pleats.

Maybe no one noticed in all the uproar, but Saint Laurent's daytime skirts look longer. They don't cover the knees but they've been dropped down closer to them.

Saint Laurent's trouser suits and daytime ensembles were worn with Roger Vivier's clog shoes. They have open toes, platform soles and big thick heels.

Despite those theatrical trouser suits, Saint Laurent also showed a goody-goody look which no Paris designer does better. There were lots of nautical-looking navy coats and dark dresses with huge white cape collars and smooth cuffs in organdy or pique.

The widest belts in Paris are right here. Saint Laurent put a five-inch taupe suede belt around a mini-dress of navy jersey. His new chain belt isn't just one strand anymore; there are three, now.

The funniest part of the Saint Laurent show was when he showed what Africa means to him. It is almost the best entertainment in town.

Some of his dresses are gags — including beaded ones with very long, pointed wooden breasts copied from his own private pieces of African sculpture — but others are not.

There is one short coat which looks as though Saint Laurent had grabbed chunks out of an African hut and then started to sew. It happens to be raffia.

The best are his beaded embroidered dresses which have a lattice work of wood beads over a veiled midriff. Some of the embroidered African dresses have midriff tops and sarong-like skirts with big chunks of raffia around them.

Saint Laurent designed wild African hairdos and Alexandre did them. A sculptor, Saint Laurent said today, made delicate metal casts of the hairdos and then Alexandre, almost strand by strand, covered them with human hair.

The bride, at Saint Laurent, knows how to live in the tropics. She came out in a bikini made of gardenias.

Hints From Heloise

One Draft Solution

DEAR HELOISE:

We live in a drafty house. My husband came up with an idea to prevent our 4-month-old from catching cold at night when the covers fall off and also to keep her from waking up in the night with her arms or legs sticking out of the bars.

He took the mattress out of the crib, safety-pinned one end of a blanket (double bed size) over the side railing, ran it under the mattress and up the other side and pinned it after folding under the excess blanket.

Then he put the mattress back in the bed.

One could also sew it, as it doesn't need to be changed as often as a sheet on the mattress. Or anybody could use a sheet and put a new-born in the crib and eliminate the need for bassinet.

This acts as a wind breaker and keeps the draft off the baby.

Mrs. Betty Young

DEAR HELOISE:

I hung a spin-type tie rack in my daughter's closet for hanging stretch headbands.

Now she can spin them around and find just the right color.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE:

When we are going to lower the hemlines to the calf of the leg so we can all wear those beautiful, comfortable nylons that we used to buy with the elastic around the top?

I am sick of girdles, garters and garter belts.

Reserved

DEAR HELOISE:

When I entertained my bridge club recently, I was stumped for a prize that wasn't the same one we have given over and over all these years.

I came up with one that turned out to be a hit with the girls.

The prize was just an apron, but since it was near Valentine's Day I made the apron of a red and white striped material.

I put a wide, white-binding all around the sides and bottom. I sewed on a white heart-shaped pocket with the name of each member of the club and the date of the meeting embroidered on it in red embroidery thread.

Not especially valuable to anyone, but to us it was very sentimental.

Brenda Christy

DEAR HELOISE:

My son just completed his Cub Scout training and has gone into the Boy Scouts.

Rather than pack away his shirt with the badges on it that he earned while in the Cub Scouts, I removed the badges from the shirt and sewed them on a green corduroy pillow.

He uses this on his bed and can proudly display all his badges.

I plan to do the same thing when he completes the Boy Scouts.

Eileen Jacob

DEAR HELOISE:

Did you know that the paint boys use on model cars can also be used to paint your scraped high heels?

I tried it on a pair of black shoes and it worked perfectly. It comes in flat or gloss colors. You can paint just about any color shoes and it costs so little.

D. S. U.

DEAR HELOISE:

This is the mouth-watering way my mother cooks fish.

Instead of sprinkling the fish with salt before it is dipped into the cornmeal, she first sprinkles it with tenderizer.

Does it ever melt in your mouth?

Two Letters from India at Meeting of Catholic Daughters

The Catholic Daughters of America received correspondence from two former Warrenites now in India.

The first was from Bishop Urban McGarry of Bhalapur, India, and the second was from Dr. Carl Whipple who with Mrs. Whipple is touring India for one year. Of particular interest was his account of their Christmas in that country. The letters were read by Miss Marie Gahan.

The local Catholic Daughters were the recipients of an invitation from the Titusville Court to attend its 45th anniversary dinner on Sunday, February 12. All reservations for the affair must be in by Thursday, February 9.

Mrs. John Ponsell spoke of the needs of the Moorehead Mission, in Kentucky, and those present voted to donate money. Several members also informed the Court of the progress of the Mothers Clubs.

The highlight of the evening was a talk by Dr. William Cashman on the Historical Society.

The bidding
North East South West
1 ^ Pass 4 ^ Pass
Pass Pass

Opening lead Jack of ♠.
A shrewd false-card by West diverted South from his true course and led to the upset of the latter's four heart contract.

The auction was sound. North opened the bidding with one diamond and South, whose holding consisted of a semi-solid heart suit and no outside strength, made the proper response of four hearts. This call shows about seven winners, inasmuch as the opening bidder is expected to produce three.

West opened the jack of spades, dummy covered with the queen and East played the ace. West won the spade return and shifted to the ten of diamonds which was taken by North's king.

A heart was led on which East discarded a spade. Since there was no way to shut out the king, South played the ten from his hand and West was in again. The nine of diamonds was led and declarer put up dummy's ace.

South's sole concern was to reenter his hand so that he might complete the drawing of trump. In order to accomplish this end, he cashed the ace of clubs, intending to ruff the next round of that suit.

When the ace of clubs was led West threw a monkey wrench into the proceedings by dropping the king, to make it appear that he held a singleton. Declarer now feared that, if he played a second club, he would be subjected to an overruff if he trumped with a small heart. On the other hand, if he ruffed with the ten of hearts it would establish an additional trick for West.

Declarer finally decided to rely on the hope that his opponent had a third diamond and he came off dummy with the three of diamonds. South ruffed with a small heart and West overruffed for the setting trick.

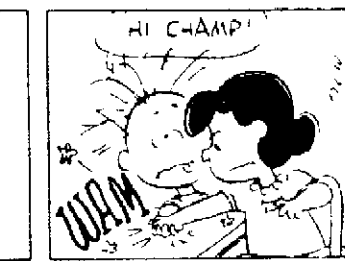

Observe that West's alert false-card of the king of clubs has nothing to lose, for by the time the ace of clubs is cashed—South's hand is revealed to consist of eight hearts, two spades, two diamonds and, therefore, only one club. By the same token, declarer may conclude that West has available a complete count of his holding, and that the king of clubs may not be a true play.

It seems reasonable to assume, however, that if West had followed suit with the seven of clubs South would have attempted to reenter his hand by ruffing a club instead of the diamond.

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars, FOR TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1967
ARIES (March 21 to April 20) — Make no changes in matters now producing good results, but DO accept changes that benefit the many and complete the total picture. Forward — with self-confidence and hope!
TAURUS (April 21 to May 21) — Follow up inspired ideas with creative accomplishment. Thus you can do now since fine Venus influences stimulate incentive and artistic pursuits.
GEMINI (May 22 to June 21) — Be careful not to misinterpret others' meanings or be misunderstood yourself. Avoid hypersensitivity, impulsiveness and tendencies to bicker over minor irritations.
CANCER (June 22 to July 23) — A sense of responsibility will be important to success now. Do not let irksome matters annoy. Paying too much attention to them can blow them out of proportion. Stress your sense of humor.
LEO (July 24 to August 23) — Unexpected altercations and disturbances could throw you off course if you are not careful. But, forewarned is forearmed, so be alert and do YOUR part to maintain harmony. Let serenity be your byword.
VIRGO (August 24 to September 23) — Mediocre efforts won't do now — especially since you have more to work with than those born under many other Signs. With skillful maneuvering, you can accomplish more than you may think at first.
LIBRA (September 24 to October 23) — Good planetary influences stimulate your talents and interests. You should have a field day, but remember that your beginnings will be a vital factor, START RIGHT!

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 23) — You can take giant steps toward advancement now — if you have the ambition and the know-how. Don't launch into uncharted seas, however.
SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21) — You may have a heavy schedule now, but don't resort to haste in an effort to carry it through, and be careful not to overlook seemingly minor details. Be your usual level-headed self, and all will go well.
CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20) — Much like Sagittarius, you will have to keep your wits about you. But you should also have renewed enthusiasm for routine matters as well as novel procedures and pursuits.
AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19) — Uranus stimulates your lofty aims and purposeful endeavors. You should be full of bright ideas now; ready, willing and able to carry them out.
PISCES (February 20 to March 20) — Neither expect nor demand too much and you will be surprised at your allower returns. Fine prospects for those of you who put forth best efforts and cooperate for the common good.

YOU BORN TODAY have many talents which should lead to a successful and happy life, but how you use them will tell the big story. Once the Aquarian learns self-mastery and composure, he can reach more than one noteworthy pinnacle of achievement. Your intuitive may lag at times but, in general, you have a fine spirit of enterprise and are full of enthusiasm about all your undertakings.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

BORDERLINE ANEMIA

An iron deficiency anemia implies a lack of iron due to inadequate diet, poor absorption or loss of blood. But the blood count does not always tell the whole story because 25 per cent of the body's iron supply is stored in the bone marrow, liver, and spleen. Seventy per cent is in the hemoglobin of the red cells and the remainder is in enzymes and tissues. Every time a skin cell is shed an infinitesimal amount is lost.

Let us assume a woman becomes anemic because her diet is lacking in iron. She prefers salads and dainty sandwiches to meat. In addition a certain amount of this mineral is lost whenever she has a period.

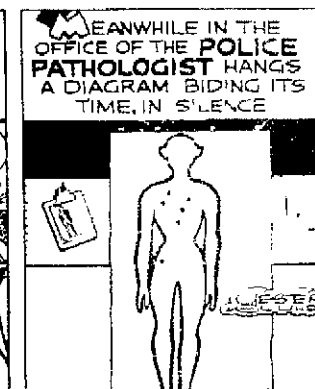

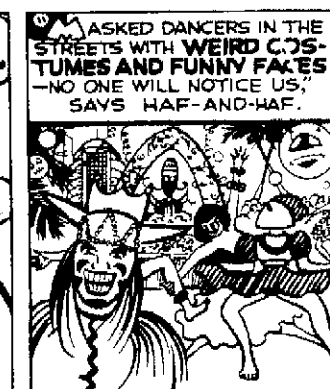

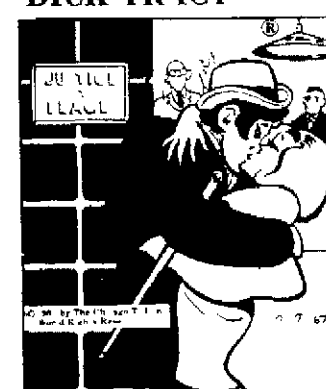

In time, the percentage of iron in her system wanes leading to fatigue, pallor, and a feeling of extreme tiredness. Her physician makes a diagnosis of a borderline iron deficiency and prescribes iron tablets. He also may clue her a bit about her diet.

In the past the medico might have been skeptical about blaming these symptoms on a borderline anemia. We did not know that the reserve supply of iron in the bone marrow and liver was being depleted and that the early manifestations resulted from lack of the mineral in enzymes and other tissues. The blood count changes after the stored iron is lost.

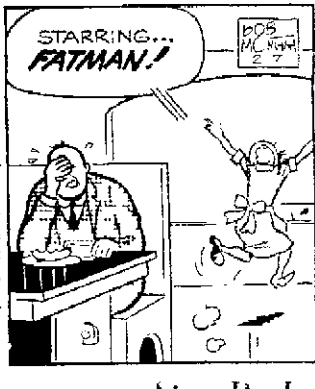

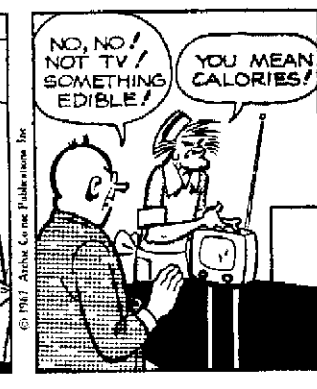

The response to iron is excellent when the condition is treated early. Strength and pep return when the deposits are replenished. When the iron level of the blood is depleted treatment is more prolonged. The victim takes iron for several weeks and may not feel up to par even though the blood count is approaching normal figures. The iron tablets must be continued until all the tissues are back to normal. In order to prevent another deficiency the cause of the disorder must be corrected.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics, if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

THE DECISION MAKERS

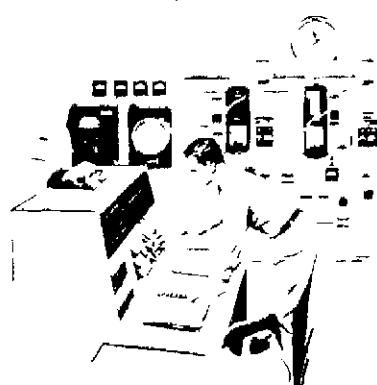

Not too many years from now these young men and women will be making or contributing to a whole range of decisions that will shape the way Americans will live. Their decisions -- on technical, social, political, economic, scientific and educational matters -- will affect everything from what we eat, how we travel and how long we live, to war or peace and freedom or despotism.

Many of the important future decisions will be made with the help of the young men and women who will run tomorrow's investor-owned electric companies. That's so because electricity powers progress in the home, in the farm, in industry and in the discovery of the unknown.

There's no coincidence that America is both the most productive nation in the world and uses more electricity than any other nation.

But providing even more electricity reliably and at a low cost will be only one of the challenges that tomorrow's electric company employees will face. Because in the process, they will also help control noise levels and air and water pollution. They will help create new recreation opportunities and new ways to travel and to send messages. They will design facilities of beauty that will be useful to both the utility and the community. They'll help develop new ways to light and heat, milk cows, preserve food, make bricks, and process clothes. They will help desalt water, treat refuse and reclaim land. They will help create thousands of materials, products and services not even known today. And they will be in the forefront of helping their communities build, rebuild, grow and prosper in the genuine mutual interest of the investor-owned company and the public it serves.

Penelec and the nation's other investor-owned electric utilities and others in the electricity business have confidence that America's young people are equal to the challenge. On this National Electric Week, we salute tomorrow's decision makers.

KIANTONE 4-H CLUB

TITUSVILLE—Much interest has been aroused among residents throughout this area in the possibilities attached to development of the Oil Creek Watershed Project, with a possible dam in the Centerville section.

Far-reaching recreation possibilities have been advanced in connection with the new project.

City Manager Joseph Zaitnea has announced that a meeting has been set for Thursday, Feb. 23, at 7:30 p.m. in the Athens Township building.

The purpose of the meeting is to confer with the Athens Township Supervisors, the Centerville Borough Council, Titusville City Council, county commissioners, representatives of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service about the financial possibilities of developing a multipurpose dam at the Centerville site.

Wallace Dean will be present at the meeting along with administrative officials of the Fish Commission from Harrisburg.

The manager announced that all interested parties will receive a detailed announcement in connection with the meeting in the next few days.

Move to Merge TB Societies Of This Area

MEADVILLE—The latest total in the 1966 Christmas Seal campaign was announced at $73,364 at Thursday night's meeting of Northwestern Pennsylvania Tuberculosis and Health Society at Erie.

The figure has passed the $72,925 mark set last March 31, close of the two-county society's fiscal year. This year's goal is $75,550, contributions acceptable until March 31.

Crawford County's total to date is $16,405 toward a goal of $17,000. Last year the county contributed $15,950 all told. Gordon Graves, executive director, reported a conference last month of state directors at York. A master plan of reorganization of the Pennsylvania societies from 66 to 10 multi-county societies was discussed. The next step in this area, now in the planning stage, will be combining of Warren, McKean, Potter, Elk and Cameron County societies with the Erie and Crawford members of the present society.

Clairton Waterless

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A break in a Mon Valley Water Co. main cut off the water supply to 75 per cent of nearby Clairton yesterday and forced eight schools to suspend classes. Service was restored in 12 hours.

$30,250 Verdict

BUFFALO, N.Y. — By a 11 to 1 vote, a jury last week awarded $30,000 for personal injuries and $250 for property damage to a man injured in a motorcycle accident more than three years ago. The suit was brought by Edward Greenan of Clarence, N.Y. Defendants were Everett W. Crawford, driver of another motorcycle, and Ernest Kenemuth, both of Bradford, owner of the cycle driven by Crawford.

CARD OF THANKS
We sincerely thank all our friends who sent flowers and cards, gave use of cars and extended other kindnesses at the time of our recent bereavement.

3 In Memoriam

IN MEMORIAM
In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Barbara Baumgrotz, who passed away 4 years ago today.

When shades of night are falling,
and we are sitting alone,
To our hearts there comes a longing,
if she only could come home.

Often and often our thoughts
do wander,
to her grave not far away,
Where we laid our dear, dear mother,
Four years ago today.

It may appear the wound is healed,
But no one knows the sorrow,
that lies in our hearts concealed,
Sadly missed by Daughters
Mary Ann of Buffalo, N. Y., and Barbara of Paramus, N. J.

IN MEMORIAM
In memory of Herbert (Bill) Carnes who was called to his eternal rest 10 years ago Tuesday, Feb. 7.

Just when our days and hope seemed brightest,
God took him from me to his eternal rest.
The blow was great the shock severe
I little thought the end was near.
Friends may think the wound
is healed,
But they little know the sorrow
I conceal,
There is an unseen bridge span,
That can reach the heart of man, from the Throne of God
And this a pathway from despair.
This bridge I share, is called
The Bridge of Prayer.
Sadly missed by his wife
Esther and Sister Daisy.
